

Lindbergh Postpones His Flight To Paris

Because of Adverse Weather Conditions Until Friday—Cruiser Memphis Expects to Reach Washington Saturday, June 11—National Capital Fired Into Unusual Enthusiasm—New York to Carry Out Great Welcome.

Kenley, England, June 2 (AP).—After waiting in vain for weather conditions to clear Captain Lindbergh today postponed his flight to Paris until tomorrow. He will spend the night at the officers' quarters here and hopes to get away at dawn.

A thick haze at the flying field, with reports of fog over the Channel and rain at Paris, caused the flier to make his decision.

Arrive Saturday, June 11.
Washington, June 2 (AP).—The United States cruiser Memphis which will bring Captain Charles Lindbergh home expects to reach Washington at noon Saturday, June 11, its commander advised officials here today.

This program is predicated on good weather, the message from the Memphis said. Captain Lindbergh will be picked up at Cherbourg, France, on Saturday and a bee line course then will be followed to the mouth of the Potomac river.

Lindbergh will return to New York in the Spirit of St. Louis, in which he made his epochal flight across the Atlantic. Major General Patrick, chief of the army air service announced at a meeting of the joint government-District of Columbia committee which is arranging for the reception of the pilot upon his arrival here.

Unusual Enthusiasm.

A nation eager to reward uncommon skill and valor, looked forward today to June 11 when Captain Charles A. Lindbergh, arriving aboard the cruiser Memphis, is to be acclaimed by his own people personified by their President.

This young flier whose exploits of the air have stirred the admiration of the world, is destined to find a homecoming at the hands of folks who know and understand him equal to his remarkable reception in lands where he was a stranger. Although accustomed to great events, Washington has been fired into unusual enthusiasm, realizing perhaps, that his welcome, unlike that of any other city, will typify the gratitude of the whole country.

After he has been honored by President Coolidge on behalf of the nation, Lindbergh will be free to go to New York from where he first flew to fame, to St. Louis which made his historic-making flight possible and to any other cities which may be granted the privilege of honoring him.

Plans Await His Decision.

Meanwhile, having learned that Captain Lindbergh desires to return direct to Washington, the President's special cabinet-committee has placed responsibility for working out of the details of the reception upon a District of Columbia commission headed by John Hays Hammond. The extent of the flier's stay in Washington will be determined along by his wishes and whether he flies to New York after one day here in his "Spirit of St. Louis," or in a government plane, or goes by rail, are plans which must await his decision.

The exact time of the official reception also is a detail to be determined later. Lindbergh is scheduled to reach Washington Saturday, June 11, but if the arrival is very late at night, President Coolidge will decorate him with the distinguished flying cross on Monday shortly before the Executive leaves for his vacation.

Plans Will Meet Flier.

The more definite part of the program, however, was being worked out carefully. Long before the Memphis sails land, army and navy planes plan to push out in a fleet of planes to meet the flier and guide him up the Potomac to the Capital. This probably would be near sundown since the naval officers were certain that the Memphis, one of the fastest vessels afloat, will be able to reach the Virginia Capes by that time.

During his stay in Washington, Lindbergh will be the guest of President and Mrs. Coolidge at the White House and it is probable that the flier's mother also will be asked to stay there. She has decided to take part in the national welcome.

New York Plans To Stand.

New York, June 2 (AP).—The great welcome arranged by New York for Captain Charles A. Lindbergh will be carried out despite Washington's victory in being the first city to greet the nation's hero on his return to America.

All the elaborate plans for what is intended to be one of the greatest welcomes in the history of the United States will stand. Governor A. Whitton, chairman of the mayor's reception committee, said after a telephone conversation with Secretary of War Davis in Washington.

Lindbergh is due to arrive in Washington on the cruiser Memphis June 11, and after being received by the President will fly from Washington to New York.

Finances Hold Up Convention Here in 1928

Volunteer Firemen Met Wednesday and Discussed Question—Will Meet Again on June 9 When Business Men Will Be Asked to Meet With Them.

To hold the annual convention of the Hudson River Volunteer Firemen's Association in Kingston in 1928 would cost $8,000, it was brought out at a meeting of representatives of the eleven volunteer firemen's organizations in the city at a meeting held Wednesday evening at the Central Fire Station at which time three fire companies, Excelsior, Cordis and Rapid Hose Company, voted in favor of having the convention here; seven companies favored it if assured that the convention could be financed and one fire company was opposed.

An invitation had been extended to the Uptown Business Men's Association, the Downtown Business Men's Association, the Chamber of Commerce, the Rotary Club and the Kiwanis Club to have representatives present at the meeting but none of those organizations were represented. After discussing the question of finances for fully two hours the meeting adjourned to Thursday evening, June 9, at which time the business interests of the city will be invited to attend the meeting and state whether they desire the convention held in Kingston next year.

This year the convention will be held in Poughkeepsie and those favoring having the convention here next year hope to extend the invitation to the Hudson Valley Volunteer Firemen's Association to meet in Kingston in 1928 at the convention in the Bridge City.

William H. Kolts, chairman of the meeting Wednesday, stated that it would require the raising of at least $8,000 to hold the convention in Kingston next year. Mr. Kolts is a director of the valley association and favors holding the convention in this city. He said it was nearly eight years since the last firemen's convention was held here and did not believe that the firemen would have any trouble in raising the necessary finances. This opinion was concurred in by William B. Martin, second vice president of the valley association.

HAROLD LLOYD IS CONFINED TO BED

Hollywood, Cal., June 2 (AP).—The fourth member of his family to be taken ill, Harold Lloyd, film comedian, today was confined to bed under the care of a physician. Lloyd's illness, pleurisy, is not serious, according to the physicians, although the actor's temperature last night was 102. Other ill members of his family are Mildred Davis, his actress wife, who is recovering from bronchitis; their small daughter, Mildred Gloria, and Lloyd's father, J. Darsner Lloyd.

Weiner Host Friday.

There will be a meeting of Weiner, Hose Company at the Central Fire Station Friday evening at 8 o'clock. Refreshments will be served at the close of the meeting.

Three Days in New York.

Captain Lindbergh will remain in New York three days, attending receptions and dinners, and on Friday, June 17, he will fly to St. Louis, arriving there that afternoon. From then on his itinerary will be a constant round of honors in various parts of the country.

Lindbergh on a transatlantic radio-telephone conversation from London to New York with J. H. Hynes, one of the backers of his flight said: "I consider it a great honor to have received a personal invitation from President Coolidge to attend the reception in Washington. I will be aboard the cruiser Memphis and will land where the reception will be held. I cannot, however, overlook the fact that the people of New York did for me before I started."

He said he planned to fly the Spirit of St. Louis from Washington to New York as soon as the reception at the Capital is ended.

Rush Food to Flood Victims

Residents of Two Sections Reported Without Food for Two Days—Flood Waters Continue to Drop.

New Orleans, June 2 (AP).—Supplies were being rushed today to between 3,000 and 400 people in the Woodside and Odenburg sections 140 miles northwest of New Orleans on the west bank of the Atchafalaya river, owing to a report received at Baton Rouge flood relief headquarters that they have been without food for two days.

The engineers' corps boat Choctaw was despatched to the scene last night with food for the refugees and enough feed and forage for 1,000 head of livestock. Additional supplies will be sent from Baton Rouge today.

Flood waters, falling more rapidly in the upper Atchafalaya basin today, were rising at the mouth of the river at Morgan City. A naval aviator reported that only two blocks in the city were above water. The water was dropping sharply at other places, however, and he reported that Breaux Bridge and St. Martinville were almost free of the flood and that New Iberia was emerging rapidly.

With the greatest part of the struggle to save lives over, a slow demobilization of relief forces has been started. Colonel Spaulding estimated that his rescue fleet of 850 boats, not including the hundreds of small rowboats and skiffs had evacuated 100,000 refugees and moved between 30,000 and 40,000 tons of foodstuffs.

The situation on the lower Mississippi was unchanged. The gauge at New Orleans showed a further drop of .2, now reading 18.6.

U. S. Marines Off For Tientsin

For Possible Emergencies Growing Out of Collapse of Northern Armies—Shanghai Generally Unaware of Move.

Shanghai, June 2 (AP).—The United States transport Henderson left here today for Tientsin with the Sixth Regiment of Marines, 1,500 strong, and the Tenth Artillery Regiment, with a strength of 400 men. These forces are being taken to Tientsin in preparation for possible emergencies growing out of the collapse of the northern alliance armies south of the Yellow river.

Brigadier General Smedley D. Butler, in command of American marines in China, also left for Tientsin, aboard the cruiser Richmond, accompanied by his field staff.

The Third Regiment of United States Marines, now in the Philippines, will come to Shanghai, it was announced here, to replace the Sixth Regiment.

Orders for the marines to embark for Tientsin were issued last night and were carried out in a few hours, so quietly that Shanghai generally was unaware of the move.

This force of approximately 2,000 will, it is stated here, form the first unit of an annual defense force of 16,000 which is expected effectively to prevent the possibility of any repetition of the Hankow and Nanking anti-foreign rioting in Peking or Tientsin.

Extending Water Main to Hospital

Water Board Busy Laying Eight-Inch Main from Pine Grove Avenue Through Mary's Avenue to Benedictine Hospital—Start Work on Raising Dam.

Superintendent Harrison of the water works department has a force of men busy laying an eight-inch water main in Mary's avenue, extending from Pine Grove avenue to the Benedictine Hospital. This will greatly improve the water pressure in that territory.

Today Winston & Company commenced work on the contract of raising the dam at Cooper's Lake an additional eleven feet. Before actual work on the dam is started the contractors will build a road to care for traffic.

Work on the equalizing reservoir at Sawkill is progressing and it is expected that it will be completed this month.

ULSTER COUNTY FARM PROPERTIES SOLD

The Franck estate near Stone Ridge, consisting of 60 acres of land and a large set of buildings, was sold this week to L. Sorenson of Brooklyn, who will take possession about July 1.

The Bell property near DeWitt Lake at Whitport was sold to J. Mrs. Higley will take immediate possession of the property.

City Hospital Nursing School Graduates Eight

Importance of Profession and Opportunity to Aid Suffering Humanity Stressed by Speakers at Commencement Exercises Held at High School—Judge Betts Presents Diplomas.

Eight young ladies who entered the Kingston City Hospital School of Nursing in 1924 were graduated from that institution Wednesday night when they received their diplomas during the commencement exercises held in the auditorium of Kingston High School. The class, their parents and friends were addressed by Hon. Charles H. Johnston, director of the State Department of Charities, who was introduced by Judge James A. Betts, president of the board of managers of the hospital, who presided.

The graduating class was composed of Mary E. Cotting, Grace E. Rogers, Orley Schoonmaker, Mary C. Butler, Helen E. Carpenter, Frances M. Gerow, Elizabeth V. Groves, Mary Rogers.

Parents and friends of the nurses were ushered to their seats by student nurses of the Kingston City Hospital training school. The exercises started at 8:30 when Miss Ethel Schaub of Saugerties rendered an appropriate selection on the piano while the members of the board of managers, doctors and invited clergy, members of the Hospital Training School Alumnae Association, followed by the graduating class, marched to the rostrum which was handsomely decorated with beautiful flowers and palms.

Judge Betts introduced the Rev. Ernest G. Reith, pastor of the Clinton Avenue M. E. Church, who offered the invocation. In his prayer he asked the Almighty to bless the members of the class and all interested in the promotion of the welfare of humankind in order that they might render unbounded aid to humanity.

Talk to Graduates.

The Hon. Charles H. Johnston, director of the State Board of Charities, was next introduced by Judge Betts and his talk to the graduating class consisted of a charge that every one in order to succeed must develop individuality in her profession which, he termed as knowledge of the ethics and technique of nursing plus an understanding of the human element. He laid great stress on the latter.

Mr. Johnston said that to talk of the ethics and technique of nursing would be rather out of place for the members of the class had learned of both in their connection with the hospital. He wished the young ladies to realize that one of the greatest callings for the help of mankind was theirs and pointed out the great progress women have made in the profession during the last fifty years. Although the profession had its beginning in the cloisters of the early monks and nuns it has progressed with rapidity since the inauguration of a training school by Florence Nightingale in England many years ago when that woman, who did so much for establishing of nurses' training schools, donated a sum to the furnishing of a nurses' school in connection with St. Thomas's Hospital in England. This country, he said, recognized her great work and even bestowed titles upon her for the aid she rendered suffering humanity. Before the World War there were four statues in England dedicated to the great accomplishments of women and one of these was to commemorate what they had done in the line of nursing.

The speaker to illustrate what the countries of the world think of the work done by women in the field of nursing told of an incident how the Canadian government named one of the highest peaks of the Rocky Mountains, 11,599 feet in height, for a nurse who had rendered great service to the country, Edith Cavell.

Another little incident of appreciation of nurses' aid was manifested in the story of the risk of Queen Victoria to a government hospital in which wounded veterans were being treated. The First Lady of England asked of one soldier if there was any way in which she could render him aid. The veteran answered her request by requesting her to thank the nurse who attended him. He also cited an incident when General Sherman of the Civil War said of a nurse, "She outranked us all." The quotation was afterwards inscribed on a statue to commemorate her heroic work.

Follow High Standards.

He urged the nurses to follow the high standards set by precedent and always to have an open mind for the reception of new things. He urged them to develop individuality and said it is the road to success, for the Creator has made no two things alike in His handwork. He asked the young graduates to make the best of their opportunities and look for a chance to develop the best in what is at hand.

To illustrate, he told of the king's son who won a battle with the sword of a disinherited soldier who was depressed because he did not have one like the men who afterward had attained success with the one which the soldier had cast aside. This is the case of accomplishments.

Mr. Johnston said, and revealed the incident of Captain Charles Lindbergh's flight. In later years his heroic feat, he later wrote his memoirs would tell of the wonderful things done in this act and be estimated that all just men would be astonished.

Announcement Calls Wednesday.

The city ambulance on Wednesday removed Mrs. Alfred Kizian from 22 North Street to the Kingston City Hospital, and Mrs. Hilda Kizian from the Benedictine Hospital to 37 Church Street.

Rev. C. A. Ross Awarded $15,000

Against Edward J. Cochrane For Injuries Received in Automobile Collision—Trial Term Adjourned.

The Rev. Charles A. Ross of Rutherford, N. J., was awarded a verdict of $15,000 against Edward J. Cochrane of this city by the jury which heard the negligence action brought in the Supreme court before Judge Rosch. Mr. Ross asked $50,000 damages for personal injuries sustained when he alleges a truck of the defendant collided with his Buick car at Cornwall in June, 1926.

Mr. Ross suffered severe injuries and was confined to St. Luke's Hospital, Newburgh, for a long time. His left arm which was crushed is disabled at the elbow and his arm is what is known as a "swivel" or "dial" arm, as the injury to the elbow has made it useless.

It is alleged that the Mack truck of defendant skidded on the road during a heavy rain and sideswiped the car in which Mr. and Mrs. Ross were traveling.

Andrew J. Cook appeared for plaintiff and Ireland & Caverly with Frank W. Brooks of counsel for defendant.

Texas Company Gets Judgment.

An inquest was taken in an action for goods sold and delivered brought by The Texas Company against William J. Sharpe et al. A verdict in the sum sued for amounting to over $800 was returned. Charles De la Vergne appeared for plaintiff.

There were no other cases taken up for trial and Judge Rosch adjourned the trial term after discharging the jurors. Court has been constantly in session since May 2 and an unusually large number of cases have been disposed of by the court and jury.

Name Board for Sacco Review

Boston, June 2 (AP).—The internationally celebrated case of Nicola Sacco and Bartolomeo Vanzetti swung to new ground today with appointment by Governor Alvan T. Fuller of a commission to aid him in his review of the long litigation surrounding the trial and condemnation of the admitted radicals and convicted slayers.

President A. Lawrence Lowell of Harvard University, Judge Robert Grant, formerly on the Probate bench, and President Samuel W. Stratton of the Massachusetts Institute of Technology comprise the advisory committee.

They will sit independently of the Governor, who for the past several weeks has devoted a large part of his time to his own review of the proceedings.

Governor Fuller's announcement was his first intimation of his method of handling the case since he first undertook consideration of the evidence on the plea of Vanzetti who, in a 10,000 word petition on behalf of himself and Sacco, called for "justice" and exoneration.

Both are under sentence of death in the week of July ten for the murder of a South Braintree paymaster, and his guard more than seven years ago.

Siege of Tampa Jail at an End

Tampa, Fla., June 2 (AP).—Tampa was quiet this morning. Apparently the "siege of the Hillsborough county jail" was at an end.

After three nights of rioting during which four persons were killed and more than a score wounded as mobs of infuriated civilians sought to enter the jail to take a confessed murderer, one thousand special deputies enforced a nine o'clock curfew throughout the city last night and there was peace.

Thirty alleged members of the mobs were under arrest awaiting action by a grand jury.

Throughout the rioting, the object of the mob's wrath, R. F. Lewis, who had confessed he killed Herman Merrell, his wife and three children thinking they were another family who had done him a "dirty trick," was safe from their fury; imprisoned in another county. Confessions announced.

Arrest of J. R. "Slim" Hudson, 45.

A sign painter, implicated by Lewis in the slaying, was announced yesterday.

MEMORIAL SERVICE FOR DR. FRANCIS E. CLARK

The Sunday evening service held Sunday at the Albany Avenue Baptist Church will be a memorial service for the late Dr. Francis E. Clark, founder and president of the Society of Christian Endeavor. Luther S. Barker, one of the state directors, will be one of the speakers and will introduce the new officers of the Society. The service is at 7:30.

Home Bureau Advisory Council Hears Reports

Communities Report on Year's Work—Nutrition Meetings Had Attendance of 683, While 323 Attended Clothing Meetings—Work in Dramatics to Be Extended—Interesting Addresses By Capable Speakers.

The annual meeting of the Advisory Council of the Ulster County Home Bureau was held on Wednesday in the Sunday school room of the Fair Street Reformed Church and was largely attended by the committee women who enjoyed luncheon together and later listened to inspiring reports and addresses.

At 1 o'clock a delicious luncheon was served by the ladies of the church, after which the afternoon's program was followed out.

The entire assemblage sang their special Home Bureau song, "Our Empire State," led by Mrs. Young.

In calling the meeting to order, Mrs. William A. Warren, the chairman, announced the disappointing news that Miss Nance, the Home Bureau agent, was ill and would not be able to present. It was immediately voted to send flowers to Miss Nance with expressions of sympathy and the hope that her recovery would be speedy.

Community Reports.

Three-minute reports of the year's work given by the community chairmen were next in order. Practically all of the reports told of the past year's educational work which included courses in nutrition, clothing, dramatics, etc., various special projects, social and entertainment gatherings, assistance in the dietitians' clinics and recent pageant activities, with here and there other outstanding activities. The reports were in part as follows:

Accord: Educational health and social activities, prizes won, their quota met, their dues paid and some $89 in their treasury.

Allgerville and Lysrrike: Educational health and social activities, quota met and $22 in treasury.

Asbury: Health, educational and social activities, the quota met and a small sum in the treasury, with plans completed for having the services of a community dental nurse in the fall.

Gardiner: Meeting in cooperation with Kingston Chamber of Commerce, health and educational work, quota met and small sum in treasury.

High Falls: Work along similar lines of the foregoing reports, with quota met and a little over $60 in the treasury. They had a full attendance for the entire year.

Hurley: Owing to the chairman, Mrs. Dunn, having met with a serious accident just previous to the meeting, Mrs. Warren called for an impromptu report to be prepared by those present and given after the other community reports, which was done.

Kerkhousen: Been active in the regular work of health, educational and social programs and had not only completed their quota but won the membership banner.

Kingston: Had also accomplished educational, health and social enterprises.

Modena: Had its quota and a balance in their treasury, besides doing its project work in educational, health and social lines.

Napanoch: Carried on similar activities, raised its membership from 12 to 22, and over $40 in treasury and had paid $25 to firemen in appreciation of the use of Firemen's Hall.

New Paltz: Interesting oral report telling of health, educational and social activities.

Shokan: This was one of the newest units, having a membership of 27, with quota met and surplus in treasury.

Stone Ridge: In addition to doing similar work to that of the foregoing communities, Stone Ridge in connection with its food preparation committee work, sent to sick people and shut-ins, trays of wholesome and dainty foods that seemed to be much appreciated.

Wawarsing: In addition to regular activities well done, the community reported doubling its quota.

West Hurley: Besides being active in educational, health and social work, they had been responsible for a comfortable play, netting $100, given under the supervision of the Misses Foster and another play, had completed their quota and had a balance of over $20 in their treasury.

Another very new community report was that of Lamoilleville, which had 24 members and was busy along traditional lines of work for the Home Bureau communities.

Hurley. This community took a prize for exhibiting a Dutch feast on the grounds of the Fair and Home Bureau and Chamber of Commerce. Their last August one of the members of the Hurley unit won third prize in the Kitchen Improvement Contest held in the county last year, winning a stainless steel kitchen set. The community has had all the food lessons and the nutrition course at the Home Bureau school conducted by the Home Bureau, through

DAILY RADIO PROGRAM

Friday, June 3.

"Amie Laurie," "Old Lang Syne" and "How Gently Sweet Aton," are three very good reasons why radio listeners should tune to WJZ or some other station of the Blue Network when the Hero, Heroine and Music-makers broadcast a program of old Scotch favorites on Friday night. A concert by the Five String Quartet will be the big highlight offered by WJZ. Jeanne Laval, contralto, and Yates and Lawley, popular vaudeville team will be the featured artists supported by a stringed trio and the Philco Orchestra in the next Philco Hour to be broadcast by WJZ, KDKA, WBZ and WYV. Two musical programs of the highest type will be presented by the Allen Trio for WOR, and the Suffolk Symphony Orchestra for WBZ.

Wave lengths in meters on left of station title, kilocycles on the right. Times are Eastern Daylight Saving and Eastern Standard. Black type indicates best features.

IROQUOIS HAD PEACE LEAGUE

Research Reveals Astonishing Conception of Civilization in 1570.

Washington.—The League of the Iroquois, astonishing organization of a primitive people to put an end for all time to the shedding of human blood, forms the subject of a lifetime research by a Smithsonian ethnologist, who has left Washington for a final summer of field work preparatory to issuing his results.

J. N. B. Hewitt of the bureau of American ethnology under the Smithsonian, began gathering texts on the league among the Iroquois of New York state and Canada in 1898. In the intervening years his authority on the subject has become such that recently three chiefs of the Onondaga came to ask Mr. Hewitt about the principles of the league.

Formed First in 1570. The Federation of the Five Nations was consummated about 1570 between the Mohawk, the Onondaga, the Oneida, the Cayuga and the Seneca. It was the conception of Degawida, lawgiver, statesman and prophet. Appalled by the relentless feuds which turned the Iroquoian country into a "highway of blood," he sought for a means of insuring peace between all known tribes of men. The solution he found was a constitutional form of government based on three sets of "double" principles—health and peace, righteousness and justice, authority and harmony between man and man and man and nature.

The founder and his associates meant this plan to apply not only to the Iroquois people but to serve as a model for all men. The humanity and statesmanship of this conception would do honor to a contemporary nation. The Iroquois Indians were in the Stone Age when Degawida conceived it.

To give body to the plan must have seemed at the beginning a hopeless task. It meant not only a new spiritual conception but an entire revolution in the methods, scope and forms of government extant among the Iroquois. Degawida succeeded by a long period of proselytizing among the tribes. His chief aids were, first, Digoonsasen, a chief of the Neutral nation (or tribe), then very powerful, warlike, though neutral in the wars between the Hurons and the Iroquois, and Hiawatha. This Hiawatha was not the hero of Longfellow's poem, but a tribal chief and a practicing cannibal, whom Degawida won to his side.

Set Price on Life. Typical of the practical steps by which the league achieved its purpose of peace was the setting of a legal tender price on human life so that the death of a man, whether by accident or design, would cease to bring in its train an endless series of revenge deaths. A single life was paid for by 20 strings of wampum, a female life by 30; and there the matter ended. The government of the league was in the hands of a council of chiefs representing the constituent clans of the tribes, each of whom was elected by the women of his clan. As proof of how literally the founder statesman conceived the purpose of government to be the attainment of good, or peace, it is only necessary to state that the chief of the council could not go to war, while he held the chiefship.

The ordinances of the league constitution required that the number of the chiefs in the federal council should be kept intact. Consequently, the rituals for the council of condoning and installation of chief lay in the heart of the integrity of the Iroquois federation. It is on these rituals that Mr. Hewitt, under the direction of the bureau of American ethnology, has devoted so many years and which he now wishes to collate and verify for a final translation.

It is commonly to be wondered at that the mind whose vision was so high above the common level and to whom the Iroquois owed their form of government, should have been a legendary and a legendary figure in course of time. The conception of the birth of the Iroquois nation, the story of the birth of the league.

Shirring Adds to Graduating Dress

Decoration Is Featured in Outfit With or Without Sleeves.

Waist-front, waist-back and skirt, these three pieces are all there are to this shirred dress as planned for the June graduate, says Women's Home Companion.

Pretty lace for frills, satin ribbon for a sash and a soft sheer material such as batiste, organdie or voile were all taken into consideration in working out this design. It is distinctly a 1927 style. The shirring that gathers the front of the waist in two places and the back in one is largely responsible. So is the handling of the skirt fulness. It is concentrated across the midfront and given an apron aspect by several rows of gathered lace put on in panel formation. As shown, valance edging is used for these frills and for the single one that goes all the way around the skirt. The pointed neck is finished with insertion to correspond, set in flat at the front but gathered across the back so it fits close below the nape of the neck.

One of the nice things about shirring is that it adds to the fluffiness and daintiness of a sheer cotton without extra cost except in time. Yet shirring is not difficult. It might be defined simply as well-regulated gathering.

Pursuing the use of shirring further a fourth piece is added to the pattern in the second version for full sleeves that gives the dress a "peasant" look. They are shirred at the top and into tiny wristbands. Even the front of the skirt is shirred in this version of the frock. It would be delightful in crepe de chine or voile, with neckline insertion of embroidered banding. You can purchase these strips by the yard in most department stores.

Exquisitely Harmonious Are New Composite Effects

One would think that the possibilities of achieving new effects in frocks of the two-piece type had been exhausted. There have been so many variations of this popular style within the past year that it seemed impossible for its vogue to continue through another season.

The introduction of the composite theme into fashions has saved the situation so far as two-piece frocks are concerned. It has given designers a chance for any number of charming and new effects, and given the wearers of these frocks a chance for still further emphasizing their personalities through the medium of color.

In carrying out the composite effect it is not merely that different shades of a color are put together, but that the tones are so graded that the result is exquisitely harmonious. One finds this tendency even in clothes of the most informal character. The degrading bathing suit of jersey, among the newest models, features a clever combination of three tones of blue, rose, green or beige, according to individual preference.

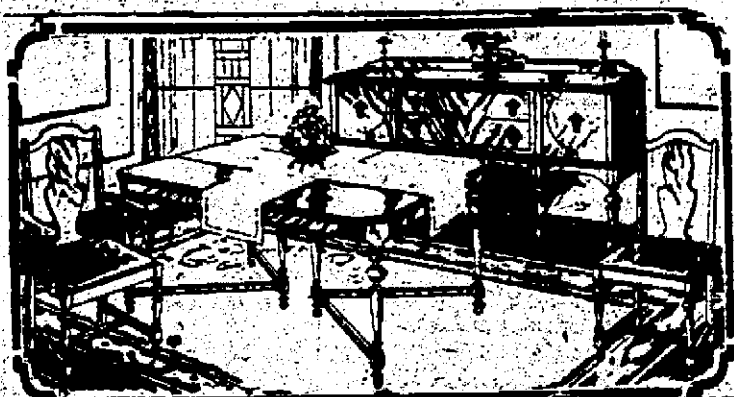

Concealed Fulness

The prediction of several seasons ago that wider skirts would bring a return to fuller figures has been disproved. Most of the French couturiers, while favoring fulness, so confine the lines of their frocks that the bodies and hips fit closely, and the pleats or gathers appear suddenly, well below the hips.

Daddy's Evening Fairy Tale

By MARY GRAHAM BONNER

TO THE SKY

I must surely tell you about the trip the fairies took last evening. They did have such a fine trip, for the Fairy Queen arranged it all. She certainly knows just how to make everything a success.

Early last evening she said to the fairies: "We have an invitation to visit the stars tonight, and an airship is all ready for us."

You can imagine how delighted all the fairies were, but they had no time to talk it over beforehand, for they started at once.

The airship was made of the loveliest silver cloud, and it was so soft and so comfortable.

The invitation had come from one very bright little star that always came out just a little ahead of all the others every night.

The star had seen the fairies playing in the moonlight and starlight and wanted to tell them how nice it was to watch them play.

And so the invitation came. When they reached the star, the cloud disappeared, and they were right on the bright little creature looking down upon their playground.

The star told them how much the moon and all the other stars enjoyed giving the brightness to the fairies' evening parties and that they always felt as if they were having a party themselves just watching the good time the fairies were having.

Then the little star said that they must visit all the other stars, for they all wanted to have the fairies come and see them.

The fairies went from star to star along the Milky way and thought the way of traveling up in the sky was glorious.

They loved all the beauty of it, too, and the stars were very proud that the fairies thought they were beautiful, for they in turn, thought the fairies were the most exquisite of creatures.

The fairies spent all the night going from star to star and seeing the life up in the sky.

In fact, they stayed so long that it was time for the stars to go to sleep and the sun to come out.

So the fairies said good-bye to the sleepy little stars, and then a gorgeous red chariot came along and took them down to the earth again.

And just as they reached the earth, the red chariot slowly vanished back of a mountain, and in its place a great huge sun came up.

"Well," said the Queen of the Fairies, "this has been a trip that we will never forget."

And all the little fairies agreed with her.

Upstairs Out Loud
When three-year-old Malcolm wanted to go upstairs he was told to step quietly because baby brother was asleep.

Some time later, wishing to go up again, he said, "Mommie, Hughie is awake now, isn't he?"

"Yes," answered mother.

"Please, then," came the request, "may I go upstairs out loud?"

Too Helpful
"I'm going to give you a trial as my stenographer, but I hope you don't use slang. The last girl we had here was entirely too slangy to suit me."

"I get you, boss. Do you want to spill a little dictation now or would you rather limber up your brain with a couple of cigars before we wade into the day's bad news?"

Insolent
Athletic Coach—Why is it that you jump so much higher than the other freshmen? Did you practice at home before coming here?

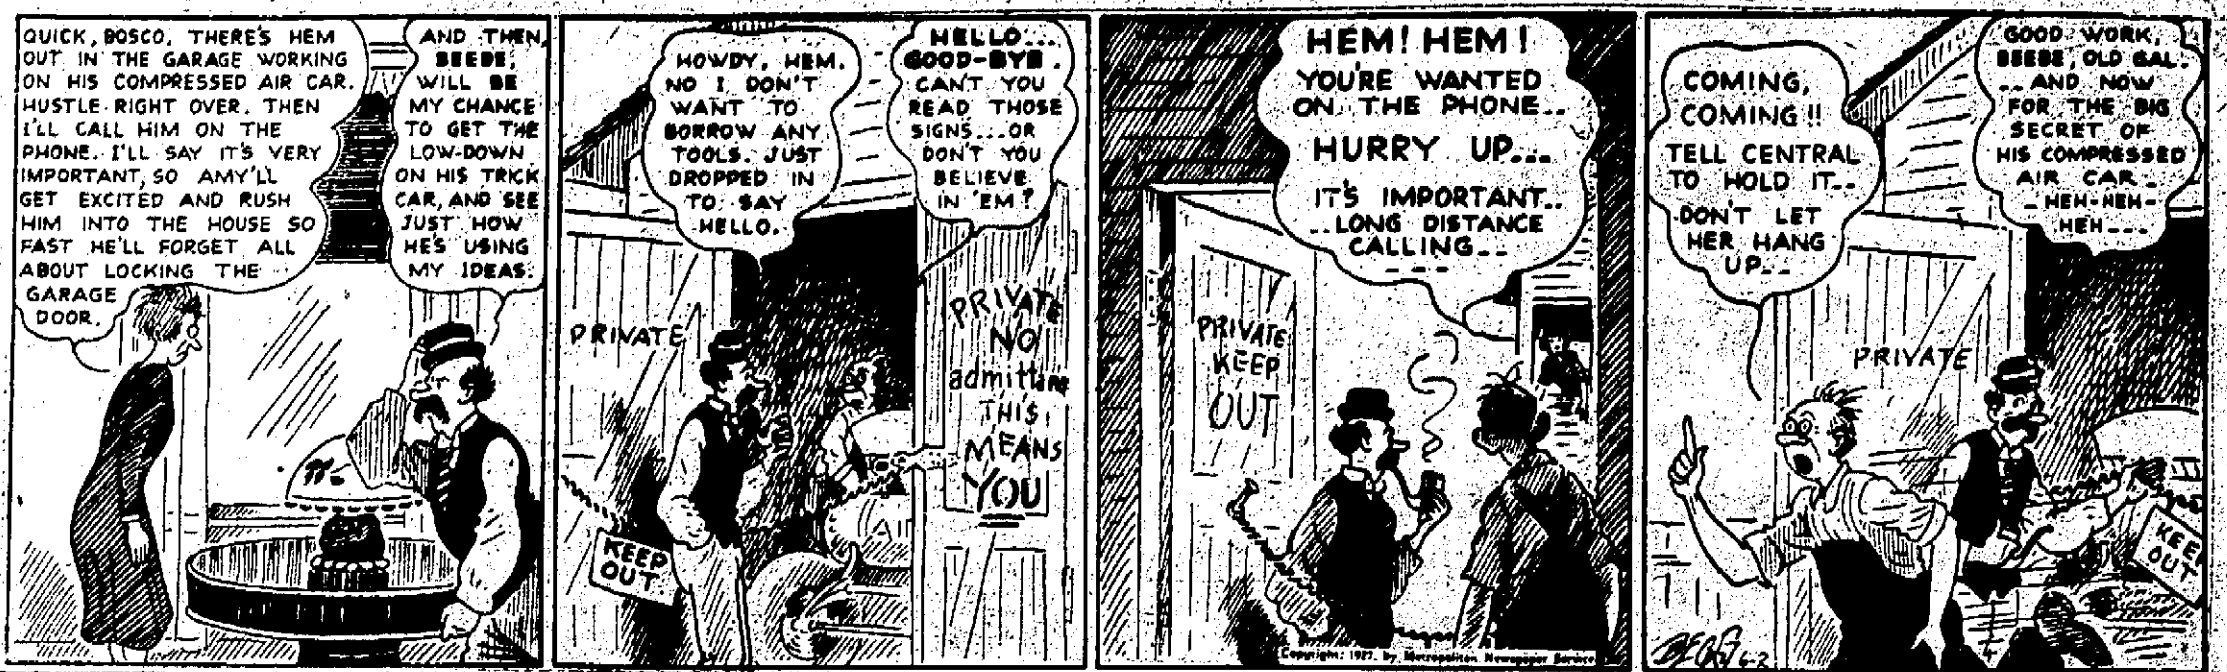

Freddie—Not intentionally. But we had a mean bull and a high barnyard fence.

As It Were
"What you reading, girlie?"
"Scott."
"And how do you find his stuff?"
"Exciting enough to make your hair curl."
"Permanent Waverly, so to speak."

Keen Little Minds
Mother (telling Bible story)—And the ark rested on Mount Ararat.
Betty (six years old)—Was it called that because there were ark on it?
Mother—No, darling; I told you all the animals were drowned.
Betty—Not if they were water with.

Woman's Brain Superior
A woman's brain is about the same size as a man's, but it is of superior quality—of a higher specific gravity. It lasts longer, too. On an average a woman of sixty has a 20 per cent better brain than a man of the same age.

FOOD FOR THE AGED

We seldom find any reference to food for the aged members of the family. The inference is that they must take what they may from the family table without regard to its suitability.

The food for an aged person should be chosen as carefully as that for the young child. One cannot go far wrong in using about the same kind of food for the old as for the young.

Vitamins are found in milk, butter, fresh vegetables and especially in greens and tomatoes. Chicken, fish, and especially oysters, are particularly good for the aged. Of the fruits, apples and oranges are excellent for old and young. When they are unable to eat the apple because it needs mastication it may be scraped or baked.

Orange juice is a mild food; it plenty of the juice is taken it should prove most invigorating. Orangeade, lemonade, with a beaten raw egg added to a glass of either, is very nourishing.

Milk is excellent for elderly people as it is rich in vitamins. Milk toast, milk soups, well-cooked cereals with whole-wheat bread are all easy of digestion.

Queen of Puddings.—Put into a double boiler one quart of milk and one-half of a box of gelatin. When dissolved add the well-beaten yolks of four eggs. Let the mixture cook until thick, then add the beaten whites of the eggs with four tablespoons of sugar and one teaspoonful of vanilla. Remove from the fire and pour into an oblong pan rinsed in cold water. Turn out on a platter when cold and serve with cream. Make the day before serving.

Pear Dessert.—Dissolve two tablespoons of gelatin in one-half cupful of boiling water, add half a dozen ripe pears—drained canned ones will do—put through a sieve or ricer, add sugar to sweeten, vanilla to flavor, add two cupfuls of whipped cream, mold in a wet mold and turn out when set.

Allow for Wall Growth
You might be excused for thinking that your leg was being pulled if you were told that both walls and cement parapets grow. But they do! Architects, working to close measurements, often have to make allowances for this growth, or there would be trouble, says Popular Mechanics Magazine.

when your cook books give no help

Let Ivanhoe Mayonnaise tone up the simplest of the old salads, add piquancy to a familiar salad or dress up pot-luck for the unexpected guest.

For Ivanhoe is such a distinctive mayonnaise, you'll find it surprisingly helpful in working up new and unusually delicious salad combinations.

Its rich, smooth creaminess comes from the use of twice the number of eggs most recipes call for, and the 50% faster beating.

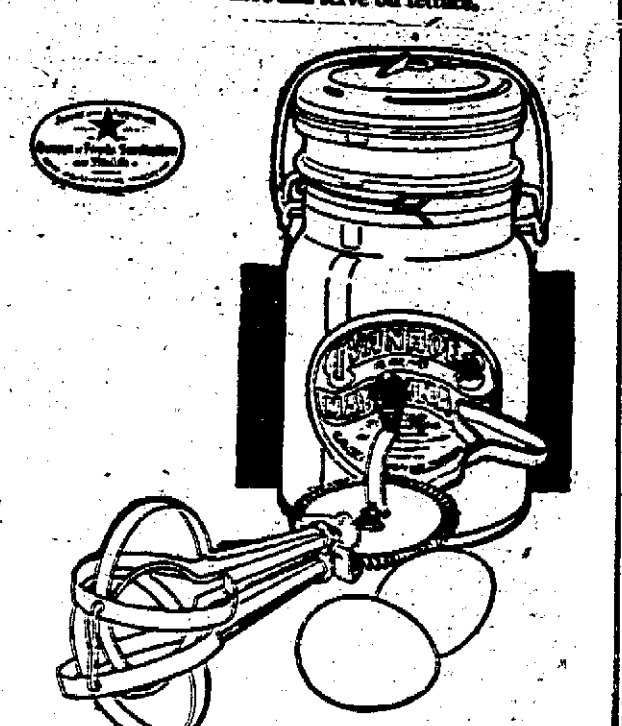

Get a pint of Ivanhoe at your grocers today and try the recipes given below.

TOMATO SURPRISE

5 Medium-sized Tomatoes 1 Small Cucumber
1 Cake Cream Cheese Seasoning
1 Teaspoonful Onion-Juice Ivanhoe Mayonnaise
Peel the tomatoes, remove this slice from the top, and take out the pulp. Cut the cucumber into small cubes, mix with the cream cheese and enough tomato pulp to moisten the mixture well. Season with the onion-juice, salt, pepper, and paprika. Serve on lettuce or watercress and garnish with Ivanhoe Mayonnaise or with Ivanhoe Russian dressing.

ODDS AND ENDS

2 cups left-over meat (veal, pork, etc.) diced cold. Soak in oil and vinegar 1/2 hr. before using. 1/2 cup diced celery—3 hard-boiled eggs diced—1 Bermuda onion diced—and 1 green (or red) pepper diced. Mix with Ivanhoe and serve on lettuce.

The Modernistic Spirit in Clothes—The Advent of Flannel for Sports Wear—Beach Pajamas Not Available for Public Goods.

New York.—In casting about for the more salient details of the season as it is developing for summer, it seems as though the most important was the inspiration designers seem to have found in modern times. Heretofore, it has been the custom to hark back to ancient times for style inspiration.

This season, however, there is a noticeable scarcity of period influences, in spite of a certain tendency to establish as a classic the type of dress that has a more or less fitted bodice and a full skirt, be it long or short. Such a frock is usually referred to as a robe de style, and merits this distinction, but the period frock that has inspired sources of another type is strangely missing.

There seems to be a continuation of the strong modernistic spirit in clothes. Triangles and diagonals, with some circular movements as well, are being used by and large as the structural lines of the season. Many prophesy a decline of pleats, with tricky little godets and insets of other sorts providing the necessary flare and fullness. Pleats may safely be counted on to finish out the summer, for there is no form of fabric decoration more effective for sheer fabrics.

Flannel for Sports Wear.
Fabrics obviously remain sheer for the dog days, although these are more than offset by the fine woolsens and knitted effects so eagerly seized upon for country wear. Crepe de kasha and jersey have won their spurs and continue to be applauded for sports wear. Now flannel enters the list and seems to have many staunch advocates. The collarless flannel sports coat, usually three-quarter length, is a factor in current sports wear, second only to sweaters, which are of many hues and designs, and of two types, the pull-on and the cardigan.

The time has arrived for the discussion of beach apparel. Although many have settled down to regarding the knitted swimming suit, as the answer to the heretofore perplexing problem of what to wear in the water, many women, for reasons of sanity or convention, disapprove of this type. The knitted suit, however, is accepted as in good taste everywhere, provided the wearer is equipped with a gay beach coat, bath robe or cape.

Depositing Men's Bathing Suits.
The sensational beach pajamas that have been reported from fashionable beaches abroad, and to some extent from more or less restricted beaches in the South, are not a practical costume for the bathers who parade on public sands. For the girl who has the luxury of a private beach, it is an ideal costume, worn over a swimming suit, of course.

The season's most sensational bathing suit is a duplicate of that worn by men. It consists of short alpaca or mohair trunks, straight and very abbreviated, and of a knitted shirt tucked in under the trunks and gaily belted with two or three-tone sports ribbon. There are also many good-looking jumper types, with a semblance of a skirt for the more conservative. Jersey, crepe and tulle are all well-liked materials. Beach coats may be as gay as hand-painted or dye can make them, and the preference is for exotic or amusing designs.

Darker Colors in Hosiery.
That novelty hide stockings have become the preference of smart women for sports wear is not without general interest. There is, as surely every one has noticed, a tendency toward darker colors in hosiery, some women going to the extreme of wearing black sheer silk stockings for town wear.

Shoes continue to be distinctly ornamental in line, and often of two-tone kyd. Snake skins remain in high favor, not only for shoes, but for belts and bags, and reptiles provide the motif for many of the crepe-now being worn. While many of the smartest coats are uncollared, there is a strong favoritism shown for reptile trimmings on coats, and even suits.

Paris, naturally concerned in looking well on rainy days, has sent us many gay and delightful raincoats. These include not only bright rubber coats, but many plaid and checked rubberized silks, even crepe de chine. Some have sturdy-handled umbrellas and non-crushable hats to match.

COTTON, THE CINDERELLA OF FABRICS, COMES OUT OF THE KITCHEN, AND EVEN GETS TO THE BALL, ORGANDY BEING STRONGLY REVIVED.

New York.—It will be rather nice—don't you think?—to get back to cottons again. They have been the Cinderella of fabrics for so long that one feels a pleasing excitement in seeing them come out of the kitchen. True, they did get as far as the front porch, even the garden, but one seldom encounters a cotton gown in the city, which women have often found was a pity.

This summer promises to bring about the re-establishment of cotton, for instance, and what is perhaps of more general interest, of organdy. By reviving organdy, cottons, you see, get to the ball in true Cinderella fashion.

$5 Allowance for Your Old Range

Five dollars allowed for your old coal or gas range; five more allowed if there is at present a gas opening in your kitchen; and easy monthly terms make this the time to bring your kitchen "up to the minute" with an Oriole or Smoothtop gas range.

It's fun to cook with a range boasting an easy-to-clean enamel finish and every handy feature. Automatic oven heat control, in both ranges, allows you to leave pies, cakes and entire oven-cooked dinners in the oven, with the assurance that they will be "baked to a turn" and no further, on your return.

The Oriole or Smoothtop range satisfies the wish for something new, that comes with this season, and brings with it the pleasure and efficiency of modern cookery.

Whiter than ever yet this wash was neither scrubbed nor boiled

Popular Here, Says Clarendon Avenue Woman

"I don't wonder so many women talk about Rinso! Why, it takes all the hard work out of washing and cleaning. A good soaking in the safe Rinso suds loosens all the dirt and when you take the clothes out you only have to rinse them thoroughly and with a tiny rub here and there, they're ready to be hung up. And how snappy, fresh-looking and unharmed they turn out! All my friends use Rinso too because they say it saves them so much time and work. I always keep a large package handy near the sink—it's just great for washing dishes, floors and painted woodwork."

MRS. H. SMYTHE,
13 Clarendon Ave.,
Kingston, N. Y.

Millions use Rinso. Thousands write us letters like this one.

Whiter than ever yet this wash was neither scrubbed nor boiled

MOST women can't believe it until they see for themselves.

A whiter wash, a brighter wash. Not rubbed and scrubbed threadbare. Not even boiled. Just soaked and rinsed so gently!

Women are astonished when they use Rinso for the first time. It whitens without boiling—scrubbing, no! It actually soaks the wash brighter and cleaner than it could be scrubbed. The most soiled parts come snowy white with just a touch between the fingers.

No more frayed cuffs and edges! Clothes last longer this gentle way.

Thick suds in hardest water

Rinso, the greatest laundry soap, is different from anything you've ever used. It doesn't make frothy soap bubbles, but sinks into thick, creamy suds. It makes the water soapy all through—even the hardest water.

In these rich suds, dirt and stains float off so easily. All you need to do is rinse—for a whiter wash than ever! No need to ruin and age your hands by scrubbing.

Safe—and so economical!

Tests prove Rinso safe. Contains no acids or bleaches of any description.

And economical! It's all you need on washday—no bar soaps, chips or powders.

Try Rinso next washday for a whiter wash, in half the time, without scrubbing! For economy and best results, follow the easy directions on the package.

Fine in washing machines!

Rinso is so wonderful in washers that the makers of 30 leading machines endorse it for safety and for a brighter wash. Try it once and see! Get it today for your very next washday!

Orion Dotted Swiss Is Out on Summer Lines, the Collar and Cuff Bound in White. A Glimpse of the Swiss Tie in Front in a Crisp Bow.

Organdy gowns usually mean bouffant gowns. They are the summer costume for tatters for the roomy style. For that matter, they are made with tulle and with lace, in such good company and in such a way that they are not only a parade in June wedding processions and at all sorts of festive gatherings.

The organdy dance dress will rub ruffles with the net one at country club dances, and it is not improbable that the dotted Swiss dress may be among those present. Although dotted Swiss really has more prestige—in color, of course—for the simple little frock in which one may run about on a hot day in town. It is quite to be expected that cotton and silk shall be used together—and why not?

A crepe dress may have ruffles and handbags and collars and all sorts of things of organdy or Swiss. There are also many smart new cotton fabrics to be had, which fact surely adds interest and variety to warm weather fashions.

Dedrick's Drug Store Says Pleasant to Take. Elixir Must Help Poor
Distressed Stomachs or Money
Glady Refunded.

You can be so distressed with gas and fullness from poor digestion or dyspepsia that you think your heart is going to stop beating.
Your stomach may be so distended that your breathing is short and gaspy.

You are dizzy and pray for quick relief—what's to be done.

Just one tablespoonful of Dare's
Mentha Pepsin and speedily the gas disappears, the pressing on the heart ceases and you can breathe deep and naturally.

Oh! What blessed relief! But why not get rid of such attacks altogether? Why have them at all?

Especially when Dedrick's Drug Store or any druggist anywhere guarantees Dare's Mentha Pepsin, a pleasant elixir, to help you or money back.

Demand Dare's—no reputable druggist will offer you a substitute.

Auto Auctions Begin Here Soon

The automobile auction is going to become a feature of commercial activities in Kingston at regular intervals, just as the horse auction has been for many years. Beginning very soon, on a date to be announced in The Freeman, there will be auction sales of used cars conducted by John D. Van Kleeck & Son at the horse sales stables of Elmer Patten. At least 25 cars will be on sale each time and there will be every opportunity for inspection before the auction begins. The auction will be just as lively as a horse auction and will be conducted in the same way with either Mr. Patten or John D. Van Kleeck as auctioneer, both of these gentlemen having had years of experience in horse auctions. They will now turn their attention to gas buggies and adapt their equipment to modern conditions. It will be a treat to hear them and a large crowd is expected at the first auction. Of course, the regular Tuesday horse sale at Patten's will not be in any way interfered with.

Pastory Demonstration at Rosendale.
On Friday afternoon at 2:30, in the Central Hudson Gas and Electric Corporation's office at Rosendale, Miss Nellie Davenport will discuss and demonstrate the subject, "New Ways With Pastry." "Pies like mother used to bake" has become a familiar slogan, but there are many variations to this time-honored feature of a good dinner which are being developed from time to time and which add to the ease of preparation as well as to the flakiness of crust, fillings and forms of serving. Miss Davenport will give out and demonstrate new recipes which are original with the home service department of the Central Hudson System. The pastries baked at the meeting will be served to those who attend.

Synthesis of a Sore
The following recipe for compounding a sore appeared recently in the Atlantic Monthly: "Take a mass of unleavened egotism. Chop a cupful of trite conversational chestnuts, shells and all. Add a quart of dry facts, from which all the juice of humor has been extracted, and a cupful of dates stuffed with statistics. Stir in, very slowly, a pint of personal anecdotes from which all imagination has been drained. Flatter with the essence of complete indifference to anybody's taste but your own. Pour into a mold stamped with your own image and turn onto a platter garnished with plenty of thrime."—Boston Transcript.

Why Do You Don't?
Shirley is a youngster who has a penchant for inventing expressions relating to which Lloyd George coined when he said, "That is something for which I have nothing but the very sincerest use."

Her latest took place in this manner. She and her doted older sister were discussing the latter's reluctance to take a walk at the time her fiancé was to call.

"But," persisted Shirley, "why do you don't want to go?"—Los Angeles Times.

Try this Strawberry Shortcake Recipe!

STRAWBERRY SHORTCAKE

2 cups Presto 1/2 cup shortening
2 teaspoons sugar 1/4 cup milk (about)

Mix together the sifted Presto and sugar. Into this mixture work the shortening with tips of fingers. Add milk gradually mixing in with fork. Toss on board dusted with Presto, roll about 1/4-inch thickness, and bake 20 minutes in layer cake tin in hot oven (400°-450° F). Split, and spread with butter.

Try it today!

BE sure to butter the cake well while hot, use plenty of luscious strawberries slightly crushed and cover deep with whipped cream.

Follow these simple directions and be sure of tender, crisp topped flaky shortcake.

And see, too, how much better your baking is. It is surprising the difference Presto flour makes. Nothing you buy can compare with homemade Presto shortcake.

STONE RIDGE.

Stone Ridge, June 2.—The last meeting of the Parent-Teacher Association for the semester which is shortly to end was held on Friday, May 27. Important business was transacted. It was voted to give $5 to the Red Cross for the Mississippi flood sufferers and $10 to the Student Loan Fund to purchase a book for the school. Mrs. Robert Service was re-elected to serve as president for another year and Mrs. Clarence Pine, secretary. The other officers elected were Mrs. Milton Elmendorf, vice president and Mrs. Clifford Basten, secretary. Mrs. Ralph Sahler, chairman of the food sale committee, reported that $38.61 was realized by the project. A report of the conference held at Cornwall was given by M. E. Hardenbergh, delegate. The Rev. Mr. Smith, Methodist minister, expressed his keen interest in the P.T.A. The High Falls Association extended an invitation to all to attend a memorial service at the Reformed Church at that place on Tuesday evening. Ashton Hart is to be the speaker of the evening. The next meeting of the P.T.A. will be held in September and will be a donation party. Each member will donate a cup and saucer. All enjoyed a social hour at which refreshments were served.

The "Sound Sponge"

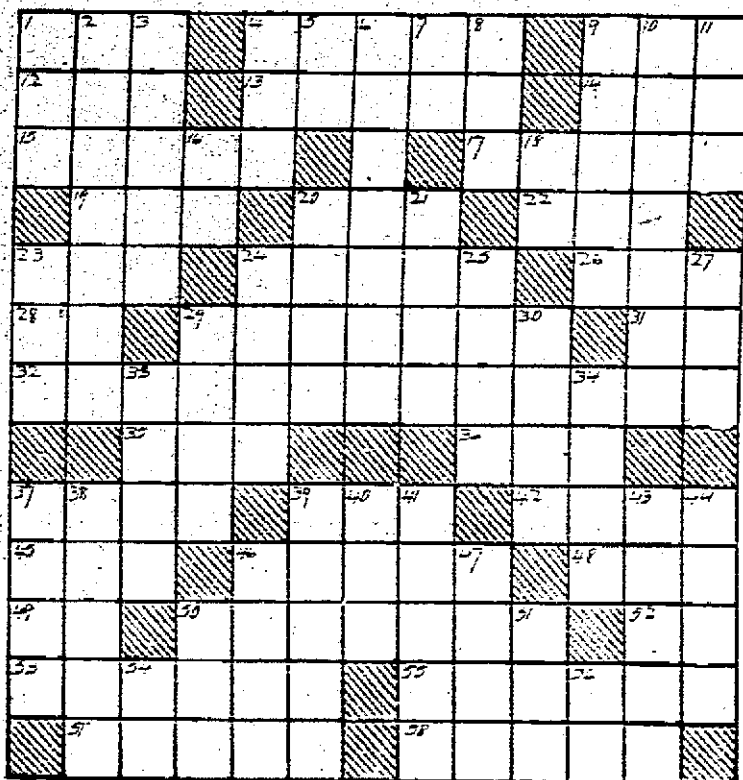

Dr. Emilie Berliner, the inventor of the microphone, has perfected a new device, known as a "sound sponge," for killing echoes in buildings of bad acoustic properties. The invention consists of paper disks stiffened by cross wires and made into various shapes to suit architectural contours. These disks are distributed about the walls at intervals as required.

"Bob" Not Modern

NEW PALTZ

New Palitz, June 2.—The American Legion and its Auxiliary attended the morning service in a body Sunday, May 29, at the St. Andrew's Episcopal Church.

Charles Parker, Lewis Ackert, Harold Van Kleeck and Harry Zimmerman attended the celebration of American Legion Day at West Point last Saturday. They report a fine time. Among other things they heard was the address by Col. Savage, of Chicago, national commander of the Legion and saw the base ball game between the West Point Cadets and Williams College.

The house and the grounds of the Donaghue Riverside Hotel are being put in shape. The hotel was opened on Saturday. The trustees of the Elting Memorial Library will entertain the cast of "The Pirates of Penzance" at Grange Hall Tuesday night, May 31. This is in appreciation of the time, effort and talent given by the cast in rendering the comic opera which netted a nice sum for the library.

The dance given by the Ladies' Auxiliary of the American Legion May 19, was well attended, about 200 being present. Dancing was enjoyed from 8 till 1. Music was furnished by Maxwelder of Kingston. Games were played from 10 o'clock on. Refreshments, including ice cream, were served. Much credit is due to Mrs. Stephen O'Brien, who was general manager.

On Saturday another bus to New York and return was added to the service of the Van Gonsies. The time table will not be definitely decided on till June. There are now three daily buses each way between the New Palitz Hotel and New York.

The Dramatic Club also scheduled for June 2 has been postponed until a future date. John W. Dubois died at his home in Detroit, Mich., on May 12, aged 84 years. As was his custom, he spent the winter in Florida. On May 1, while working in his garden he had a stroke and pneumonia developed. The burial was at Laguardia. Mrs. Dubois is survived by his wife and a daughter, Mrs. Helen Warner of Washington, New Jersey. He is a cousin of Selah Schenck of Gardiner and known by New Palitz people.

George Grimm, who has been teaching in Florida returned to this section and will permanently make his home in the north. He was a guest of his mother at Neuman Hall last week.

Last week Alfred Harcourt the New Palitz boy who won the title "Prince of Publishers" went to Boston in the interest of "Elmer Gantry" the book written by Sinclair Lewis and published by Harcourt, Brace and Company. Mr. Harcourt was one of the speakers at a conference on book censorship held in Ford Hall under the auspices of the Women's City Club.

Perry Buckmaster, Herman Jenkins, Ines Lundrup and E. Dayton Rose have been drawn from New Palitz to serve as trial jurors at the term of county court to convene in Kingston, June 6.

Thursday, May 26, a special meeting of the Classis of Ulster was held in the lecture room of the First Reformed Church, Kingston, to approve the call given by the New Palitz Reformed Church to the Rev. Edwin D. Miner of Mount Vernon. Victor W. Simons, a graduate of the New Brunswick Seminary was examined at the same meeting with a view to installing him in the Gardner Reformed Church to which he has been called.

LYONSVILLE

Lyonsville, June 2.—John Kinn and family of New Britain, Conn., accompanied by G. Home and family were week end visitors at Mr. Aron's old homestead.

Edward Willoughby of Whitefield was a caller on this place on Sunday.

Ray Davis and wife entertained relatives from out of town on Sunday.

The social at the church was fairly attended on Saturday night.

Samuel H. extended to the family of Dr. Remble of Kingston. Dr. Remble had a number of friends in this place.

Lays Pennant Hope on Hornsby

John J. McGraw, Manager of the New York Giants.

Hopes that the New York Giants may win their eleventh pennant this season are based largely upon the acquisition of Rogers Hornsby. Eddie Roush and Burleigh Grimes, according to John McGraw, gray-haired Giant leader.

McGraw expressed confidence that his team would win another pennant to celebrate this, his silver jubilee year.

He explained that the only possible obstacle between the Giants and the pennant will be the St. Louis Cardinals, Cincinnati Reds and the Pittsburgh Pirates.

McGraw pointed out that Hornsby and Roush will bring to New York the batting strength that was sorely lacking last season.

The pitching staff will be bolstered up by "Dutch" Henry, who shut out the Giants in his first appearance in the big show while a member of the Dodgers, and who was purchased by the Giants from Indianapolis. W. H. Clarkson, another youngster, will lend hurling strength, McGraw believes.

DIAMOND PICK-UPS

Hollis Thurston is twirling some classy ball for Washington.

Hazen Cuyler, fleet-foot fly chaser of the pirates, is showing plenty of speed this season.

A rattling good little second baseman is Regan of the Red Sox. More will be heard of him later.

Alexander, Ruelbach, Lundgren, Tyler, Pfeister and Brown are among the greatest of Cub pitchers in the past.

"Pop" Connolly, American league umpire, is the oldest arbiter in point of service now serving in the national pastime.

Eddie Moore is making a bang-up center fielder for the Braves. He is keeping step with his roving mate, Eddie Brown.

Breathes there the manager with soul so dead who never to himself hath said, "When the season ends we'll be heard?"

A certain proportion of rhubarb shouldn't ever be used for anything except possibly, with one end taped, for a baseball bat.

Back in the Old Town, a semi-pro ball player was one who got five dollars a piece for two games a week and cut hair Saturday night in the barber shop.

Bubbles Hargraves, who had a try-out with the Chicago Cubs some 12 years ago, was accorded the title of the National league leading hitter last year.

Records show a total of 1,272 stolen bases in the two major leagues last season, almost equally divided between the National and American circuits.

Bank McCurdy, who is relied upon by Ray Schalk to do quite a bit of work behind the plate this season, was captain of the University of Illinois nine in 1923.

Minor league baseball is played by 29 different leagues in 200 cities and towns throughout the United States and Canada. More than 6,000 players are connected with various associations.

Catcher Ernie Vick, who refused to report to the Houston club of the Texas league, when ordered to do so by the St. Louis Cardinals, was purchased by the Indianapolis club of the American association.

Purchase has been made of the Rochester International league baseball club by a group of local business men headed by George T. Stallings, president-manager, and Walter E. Hapgood, business manager.

James Callahan, former manager of the Chicago White Sox and Pittsburgh Pirates, has been appointed a scout for Washington. Callahan led the White Sox from 1905 to 1908 and the Pirates of 1916 and 1917.

Little Rock of the Southern league has signed Roger Washburn, first baseman and outfielder. He had a reputation as a slacker in the Western league before going to Portland of the Coast league last season.

D. & H. Generals
Here Sunday

With the Colonial forces floating along not any too buoyantly with a record of .333 per cent in tow, they will have two important reasons for trimming Harry Schermerhorn's D. and H. Generals Sunday afternoon at the Fair Grounds. First, they have yet to get revenge on the upstarters for a 9 to 1 licking in the Colonial's second contest of the year and second, one more win will be welcomed with open arms, for the simple reason that it will send their record a few more points nearer the thousand mark.

This will be the second game of a seven-game series with the railroaders. The locals could do nothing with the upstarters when they were here on May 15. Schermerhorn's men found little difficulty in solving Bud Cullerton's slants and pounded him for fifteen hits. The locals barely missed a shutout, but finally were able to battle their way across the plate with one marker in the eighth frame to prevent a whitewashing from the railroad men. A week from Sunday the Schenectady Police will play the locals.

LAST NIGHT
on the RADIO

Reception Wednesday afternoon and evening was fair. There was no static, little blooming and practically no local electrical interference such as made so much trouble on preceding evenings. WTAM was unusually strong and clear and WLW and WSAI were also good. WKAR was excellent during most of the evening. WOC was clear and loud. WLS was good and the Detroit stations were also heard.

Reception generally is weaker than during the winter, but with good tubes and batteries there is a lot of enjoyment in radio all through the summer. "Summer static" that one hears so much about is no worse than any other static except when there are thunder showers in the vicinity.

GREAT RECEPTION FOR
MC GRAW AND GIANTS

Olean, N. Y., June 2 (AP).—Before the largest crowd ever assembled here at an exhibition sporting event, John McGraw and his Giants were given a great reception at St. Bonaventure College yesterday. They won from the college team by a score of 11 to 2. More than 2,000 people, representing friends and admirers of "Moose" from Olean and all nearby cities were present to acclaim the premier baseball manager. McGraw started his baseball career here, being an alumnus of St. Bonaventure College. It was his first visit here since leaving the college. The Giants left here last night for Cincinnati to meet the Reds today.

One Cent A Word Advs. Bring Results

A welcome announcement is the fact that gasoline may now cost only 11c. It is estimated that this reduction would effect a saving of millions of dollars for the American motorists. This amazing reduction is brought about by a mysterious little device that is easily installed on any car in a few minutes' time. E. Oliver, 1041-2110W Winnebago St., Milwaukee, Wisc., is so proud of this invention that for a limited time he is offering the device free to auto owners who will help introduce it. He also needs men everywhere and offers profits of $75 to $150 a week to men who will handle local business. Write him at once for his free sample offer and money making proposition. MISSIONARY TRAVELS IN AUTO-CHURCH

Father Riboud, a French Catholic missionary, believes in bringing the Gospel of God right to the door of the unbeliever instead of waiting for him to come and seek it. So he secured an automobile and equipped it with everything a chapel needs. Now he can minister to the soul needs of the natives of the Dark continent. The photograph shows the exterior of the auto-church, with Father Riboud holding an illustrated Bible lesson to the semi-naked Malayan children at Bukit Maranjani, province of Wellesley via Penang (Malaysia).

NEW SPARK PLUG IS MONEY SAVER

Small Investment at Proper Time Helps Make Larger Outlay Unnecessary.

Exhaustive tests by automotive engineers prove that motor car owners many times are compelled to spend considerable money to have their engines overhauled, and new parts put in, to overcome operating difficulties that could have been obviated had a new set of spark plugs been installed at the proper time.

More than 2,000 tests reveal that a complete new set of spark plugs at the end of each 10,000 miles of driving or at least once a year, is actual dollars and cents economy. These tests have definitely shown that the saving in oil and gasoline alone, with new spark plugs, more than pays their cost within a few months, in addition to insuring greater general operating efficiency.

Change Plugs Regularly. Motor car manufacturers, a few years ago, boasted of the long life of spark plugs. Today they are recommending in their instruction books that owners change their plugs regularly, even though spark plugs have been vastly improved in recent years.

It was formerly believed that a spark plug was giving efficient service so long as it continued to fire regularly. The engineering tests supplied overwhelming evidence that this was incorrect. The greater stress on spark plugs, caused by a combination of poorer gasoline and higher compression engines, saps their efficiency rapidly.

To secure full power from gasoline it is vital that the gas mixture in the cylinders be burned with tremendous rapidity. New spark plugs provide a sufficiently hot spark to accomplish this, despite the poorer quality of present-day fuels.

Causes Leakage.

Under this tremendous stress the electrodes become pitted. Carbon is burned on to the insulator and the shell. This causes a leakage of part of the current supplied from the battery, reducing the spark's intensity. Full power is not extracted from the gas mixture. Much good gasoline is wasted by passing out the exhaust. The longer the old spark plugs are permitted to remain in the cylinders the more vicious becomes the circle of poorer combustion, crankcase dilution and pitting of pistons and cylinder walls.

That is why manufacturers recommend that car owners install new spark plugs at regular intervals. To do so restores power and speed. In less than a year's average running there is a distinct loss which impairs engine performance. Then the owner may be faced with a bill for considerable repair work which could probably have been obviated had he renewed his spark plugs at the proper time.

Proper Steering Often Eliminates Bad Skids

Just why it is that so many motorists think of their brakes alone in connection with skidding remains a problem. Experienced drivers have said time and time again that they can take a car with bad brakes and prevent it from skidding through sheer good steering. For the average driver still clinging to the idea that the skid is a matter of traction and braking. When the streets are slippery and in dangerous condition, careful consideration always should be given to steering, with avoidance of quick movements in steering as the outstanding point. Make changes in the direction as carefully as you would apply the brakes, and if the car starts to skid, steer it in the direction of the skid, meanwhile releasing the brakes.

Tolerance's Great Value

Tolerance is the most valuable quality men and women can possess. It enables them to see things from others' viewpoints. It generously conceals the faults of their own opinions. Its very wisdom values others to be happy in their own way.

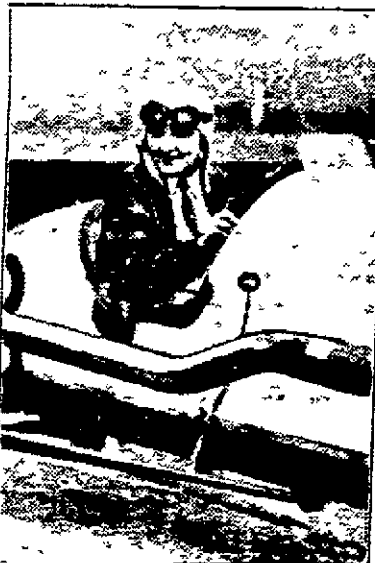

"Put on Your Chains," Is Advice to Autoists

Once you have bought chains for your car, use them. That is the advice of Charles E. Hill, vice president of the National Safety Council. Too many motorists fail to do so, either because they are too lazy to put them on or because the process seems too difficult, according to Mr. Hill.

Chains are so simple to adjust, however, that they can be put on by children in very quick time. Some girl members of the headquarters staff of the safety institution recently demonstrated how comparatively simple it is to drape the chains over the tire, so that the hooks just about touch the ground at the rear; shove the car forward until the connecting hooks are about a foot above the road, connect first the inside and then the outer hook as tightly as possible by hand, and when the automobile starts rolling the chains loosen up a bit, which allows them to creep on the tire.

Auto Racers Refuse to Race With French Woman

Giving up a promising career as an opera singer, Mlle. Molette, petite French automobile driver, now finds that men drivers refuse to race against her. Efforts are being made to match her against Jean La Costa, world's champion racing driver, of Los Angeles. Photograph shows Mlle. Molette in her racing car.

Must Prove Innocence

The French automobilist in an accident is assumed to be guilty unless he can prove his innocence. The court of cassation, in a test case, laid down the principle that will guide automobile jurisprudence. Heretofore the theory that the person damaged by an automobile accident must prove the driver of the car to be at fault, has prevailed in many courts. Sometimes the same court decided differently in different cases.

AUTOMOBILE NOTES

More auto accidents are caused by defective brakes than by defective wheels.

"Wrist pin" or "piston pin"? Which is correct? Both are used a great deal these days. Either is correct, but piston pin seems more accurate.

There are rules at the bottom of most hills, warns the National Safety Council, which advises motorists not to hit three cars at too high a speed, else they may lose control of the car.

Men's hats for automobile drivers to help decrease the number of accidents, are favored by the committee on the causes of accidents of the National Conference on Streets and Highways.

The sports editor should take over the auto magazine under the head of "The Motor Race," for there are no auto races with auto which are not the every minute for the Motor Race.

WAIT! Don't FORGET the RUNKOMALT

It would spoil the outing to forget the RUNKOMALT. For "past master," "first-degree" picnicers declare that a picnic lunch without RUNKOMALT is a flat failure.

Nothing to prepare or cook beforehand. Just cold milk in the thermos bottle—RUNKOMALT from the can—only two teaspoonfuls to each glass! Shake it to a frothy smoothness. Quenches thirst on a dusty, windy ride. Nourishing, too, and restful, if you get a bit tired.

RUNKOMALT, containing the nutritive elements of finest cocoa, malt and sugar makes a splendid "all-occasions" drink for everybody. But to be sure of that famous "chocolate taste", tell your grocer that you want the original.

Hard to Escape From Tyranny of Custom

There is scarcely a spot in the modern American home, outside the kitchen and the bathroom, which is not an example of the subtle perversion of the machine. The floor is a fluorescent example. In the large and draughty rooms of an older generation, an air was bred by burning-burning feet, a heavy carpet or rug added to the warmth and quiet, and in a big room, served to draw the various parts into a unity. So matters stood, let us say, in 1890. Today the greater part of our newly housed population lives in a unit, in small rooms. With all the imperfections of present-day houses, these rooms are well heated; usually, indeed too well heated. The people who use them at least the city people—wear light shoes with rubber heels. The need for the rug is the carpet has disappeared, and the only place where a little rug has even the shadow of an excuse is by the bedside during winter months. But what has happened? Do we take advantage of this economy? No, we adapt our home to these conditions? Not by a long shot. The rug manufacturers, the vacuum cleaner makers and the interior decorators have all combined tacitly in a drive to put rugs and carpets and the instruments to clean them in every apartment—and all for the purpose of providing a business and artistic element of decoration.—Lewis Mumford in the American Mercury.

Arctic Tern Holds Record as Traveler

Some water birds have developed an extraordinary migratory course, we are told in "Birds and Their Ancestry."

Arctic terns book the flight of the golden plover is reckoned as a typical feat of this nature. This bird leaves the Arctic breeding haunts and upon reaching Labrador's eastern coast takes a course apparently directly across to Venezuela. What is perhaps the longest route of them all is taken by the Arctic tern. A distance of 30,000 miles is traveled annually by this bird, which wants to live always in an equable climate. The Arctic tern breeds and breeds in the Arctic circle, but in the winter it returns to the south as far as the Antarctic circle. To accomplish this almost incredible flight the bird needs must travel at the extraordinary rate of speed of 20 miles in one day. At the rate it takes only 10 months to change from winter to summer residence.

COLLEGE BOYS IN YOUR TOWN

This announcement heralds a visit to your town of an unusual group of college students. They will enjoy themselves here but their pleasure will be work. They are representing America's favorite magazines.

All of these bona fide college students expect to go back to school next year with their expenses earned. They are going from town to town meeting folks, getting to know America's home makers, and earning their next year's tuition as they go.

Rotarians, Kiwanians, club women, housewives, talk to these boys. You will find them polite, interesting, convincing. They carry credentials guaranteeing them as our representatives. Be on the lookout for the ambitious youth who will ring your doorbell this week. He brings service and entertainment to your home.

SOMETHING TO THINK ABOUT

By F. A. WALKER

THE GREATEST MAN

LORD-BRYCE—better known to us as James Bryce, author of "The American Commonwealth"—started something at Williamstown, Mass., when he dropped the remark that Mazaryk, the President of the Czechoslovak republic, was one of the three really great men to come to the front during the war.

The experts from all over the world attending the meetings of the Institute of Politics, began speculating as to who were the other two.

Then, to the surprise of a great many persons, he mentioned Venizelos, the former prime minister of Greece, and Jan Smuts, the clever premier of South Africa.

An American citizen born in Athens, said recently that the Greeks drove Venizelos out of power "because he was too able."

A former Africaner, now an American, says that the best way to gain the respect of Britons is to fight them. "Take the case of Smuts," said he. "The biggest man in the empire!"

Well, it is significant that all of Bryce's "Big Three" belong to small nations and that, though the greatest war of all time had just come to an end, he did not mention a single soldier or sailor.

This was not to be explained by the fact that Foch, Pershing, Haig, Pétain, and most of the other commanders by land and sea, had not made public the diaries and journals that they kept while the fighting was going on.

All the world knew at once who was the greatest man produced by the American War of Independence. Everybody knew at once who was the greatest man produced in the American Civil War. Nobody has any doubt as to who was the biggest man in the Napoleonic wars.

Are we in a period of small men in big places?

Right on top of Lord Bryce's expression of opinion Maurice Case-nave, French high commissioner to the United States, said a strange thing. He remarked that undoubtedly the greatest figure in the history of the English-speaking world is Sir John Falstaff.

That sounds like a joke. But is it? Shakespeare's fat knight—coward, thief—is yet the most lovable of men. He is more real to us than Lloyd George or Clemenceau or others we might name. And when these striking figures have sunk into the mists of history, future generations will be reading with delight how Falstaff, as a young man, used to hear the chimes at midnight.

Never was a greater compliment paid to anybody than that of Bar-dolph to Sir John when he said: "I would I were with him whenever he is, whether in heaven or a—!"

That a character, not at all reputable, but loved by the greatest English-speaking genius, should be regarded as a "leading figure in history" shows the triumph of mind over matter and experience.

Do You Know That:—??—

NEST-EGG is an addition to the custom of placing an egg in the hen's nest to induce her to lay her eggs there. Similarly if a person has saved a little money it serves as an inducement to him to add to the store.

And so the expression has come to mean something laid up as the beginning of a fund or as a reserve.

The nest-egg is like a doxy or an artificial inducement to continue to increase the collection.—Anna S. Turnquist.

GOOD THINGS TO EAT

THE time was when the prune was considered beneath the notice of any but the very poor. Times have changed all that, and now the prune is well-established as a choice fruit with the high price.

One reason for the old idea of prunes was the manner in which they were served—carelessly cooked and served.

As the price is higher, the fruit is better appreciated and we are learning how to bring out all the flavor and deliciousness.

The long soaking and then slow cooking in the same water, washing them well first, results in a flavor and sweetness that needs no sugar for the real prune-lover.

After they have been thus prepared serve them (three or four) in a nest of lettuce with a sprinkling of nuts if desired, and a good French dressing. Such a salad is so easy to prepare and so well liked that it will be often served, when once tasted.

Prunes stuffed as one does dates, rolled in sugar and served as a confection, are most popular.

Prune Pie.

Take one tablespoonful of grape-fruit juice, one tablespoonful of sugar, one teaspoonful of flour, two-thirds of a cupful of mashed prunes, one-third of a cupful of seeded raisins. Cover the raisins with one-half cupful of water and simmer for half an hour. To the prunes add the fruit juice, a pinch of salt and the flour mixed with a little cold water. Put in the raisins and cook the mixture until it thickens—about three minutes. Spread on rich blaudit dough rolled out very thin, fold and press the edges together and bake. Serve with cream.

Bake a pastry shell and fill with stewed prunes, adding a bit of lemon juice. Top with a meringue, using the white of eggs and two tablespoonfuls of sugar, and dot with quartered marshmallows. Brown lightly and serve. If one wishes to have a richer dessert, whipped cream sweetened and flavored or plain cream with the minced marshmallows stirred in, may be used as a topping.

Home Bureau Hears Reports

to own their costumes as souvenirs of the memorable occasion or for fancy dress occasions could get them of the Home Bureau for probably not more than two dollars. But they do not have to own their costumes as the Pageant fund provides for the same.

Garden Club Lecture.

An invitation was extended to the Home Bureau women by the Ulster Garden Club to attend a lecture to be given on June 10, at the high school auditorium at 3:15 o'clock daylight saving time by Deane Henry Turner Bailey, head of the Art School at Cleveland, who will give a most interesting, entertaining, and instructive lecture on "Trees," which he will very artistically illustrate.

Roadside Advertising.

The National Committee Against Roadside Advertising begged for the cooperation and educational interest of the Home Bureau women to rid the country of the very objectionable roadside advertising. Mrs. Warren told the women that any money consideration they might receive for advertising space sold would really mean the deterioration of their neighborhood.

Better Homes.

As for the Better Homes Movement, it was the consensus of opinion that that had been from the very first one of the main objectives of Home Bureau efforts. In addition they had been responsible for sending out considerable special literature relative to this phase of home-keeping and had through prizes won in the Kitchen Contest done a good bit toward bettering materially that important room in the home.

Sewing Machine Schools.

It was also stated that the Sewing Machine Schools that had been so successfully carried on the past year might be continued next year if the communities so desired.

Mrs. Smith Compliments Bureau.

The main address for the afternoon was given by Mrs. Ruby G. Smith, who said that after listening to the previous part of the program she could readily understand why Mrs. Warren preferred that she should speak on some other subject than "Leadership," her very latest speech with some brand new stories. Mrs. Smith could think of no other community where, with the agent suddenly taken ill as in the present case, the meeting would be carried through quite as planned in a thoroughly organized manner, and she paid a well-deserved compliment to the leadership of Mrs. Warren, the chairman; to Mrs. Young, so well known and honored for her state and even national group work; again to Mrs. Warren who had been district chairman for three or four terms with short intervals of inactivity from office between; to Mrs. Eppes, who was said to have made one of the best speeches heard on a Cornell platform, out-professing the professors. Mrs. Smith also told those present that the indefatigable and efficient Miss Brewer was at the time of the meeting on her first visit to Europe and a much needed and well earned vacation.

Mrs. Smith further complimented the Ulster County Home Bureau on its outstanding success in the matter of gaining memberships by its clever quota plan which was being adopted in both state and nation.

Since she was not to be allowed to speak on "Leadership," she had complied with Mrs. Warren's request to speak on "Rural Recreation in the United States." Mrs. Smith is an easy, pleasing speaker, who has her subject well in hand and presents it with much of the saving grace of humor. This is an organized world, she said, and one of the best organizations was counted to be the Home Bureau. Through it not only did the home receive aid from the college, but the college received inspiration from the home. Rural recreation was one of the new outgrowths that had developed as a matter of self defense. It was becoming a recognized fact that the work in the rural communities overbalanced the play or recreation time and need. Life in rural and urban communities is vastly different from what it was fifty years ago, and where there is too great lack of recreation in the farm homes, bewildered parents are wondering why they cannot hold their children in the home. Even the old sociability of the rural communities due to large families foregrounding in parties, "bees," sociables, etc., is a thing of the past since we have small families today and there are fewer people to play and to have fun. Again, because of world shrinkage, due to modern transportation by auto, the radio, etc., it is easier for the young people to get to the cities for their entertainment, though the type of entertainment thus secured might very often be improved at home. Good sportsmanship is fostered by games and contests, and a general learning of "The rules of the game." Psychology teaches us today that recreation, play is absolutely necessary for the normal development of the young and the satisfying of the desires of the adults.

Mrs. Smith admitted that the Ulster County Home Bureau had taught the whole world how to picnic and she expected that they would shortly be able to teach them about pageantry.

Some of the ways in which rural recreation could be fostered were enumerated by Mrs. Smith to be community choruses, bands, orchestras; plays, pageants, movies, play grounds, etc., and she described some of these activities and simple equipment, possible to any community. The speaker devoted some time to telling of the general advantages of the theatrical recreational feature in local drama clubs, etc., and told of some places in which the Little Theatres with their excellent home talent were replacing the less desirable Midway entertainment at the county fairs.

Competitive play of all sorts was highly recommended.

Care of Children.

Mrs. Smith gave quite a boost to the idea of providing means for the care of little children so that the mothers could take part in the play-times by means of what was well called "Organized Motherhoods." The community house usually utilizing a building already built, as a recreational center was considered by Mrs. Smith as was art gardening about the home, where people so readily become neighbors over seeds and weeds.

Mrs. Smith closed her illuminating address by describing how she and her husband made their own home a play center—at little cost and simply—not only for their own children but for their neighbor's children that they might have a fund of human happiness in the bank of human kindness where no draft would ever be dishonored.

Health Work in County.

The meeting closed with one of the most valuable reports imaginable, given by Dr. Laidlaw of the State Health Department, on the "Toxin-Anti-Toxin Treatment," in Ulster county the past year.

Dr. Laidlaw said that the State Department of Health fully appreciates the interest taken by the Ulster County Home Bureau in the diptheria campaign carried on the past year. He said that 4,242 children had through the Home Bureau received the toxin-anti-toxin treatment, some of the children coming from communities where there were no Home Bureau units but where the Home Bureau did supply the interest in the work.

There had been 130 such cases from Walkill; 75 from Olive Bridge and 180 additional ones from the town of Lloyd, which added to the other 3,857, made the total of 4,242. The doctor admitted some flurries of uneasiness in certain communities where there had been some propaganda from Battle Creek against the treatment, but no attention had been paid to such flurries.

other than to ask worried parents to talk with their physicians about the matter. They found that this form of prevention of diptheria was thoroughly endorsed by the Ulster County Medical Association, the Medical Society of the State of New York and the American Medical Association, the largest organization of its kind in the world. Not one of these organizations would endorse anything that they did not know all about and thoroughly approve.

Big Field for Activity.

In spite of the good work being done, there was one condition not yet reached in this preventive work. The largest number of deaths from diptheria come between the ages of one and five years, unfortunately pre-school ages. Throughout Ulster county communities only from 7 to 23 per cent of the children of this age had so far been reached, and there was, according to Dr. Laidlaw, a tremendous field for life-saving activity here. Within the last year in Ulster county, 1,293 children had been born, showing the necessity of keeping up the work and of reaching the pre-school children by securing the interest of the mothers.

Dr. Laidlaw thanked the Home Bureau heartily for its cooperation, and in return the Home Bureau not only expressed its appreciation and thanks to Dr. Laidlaw, but promised its cooperation and assistance in the coming year, in such ways as he would suggest.

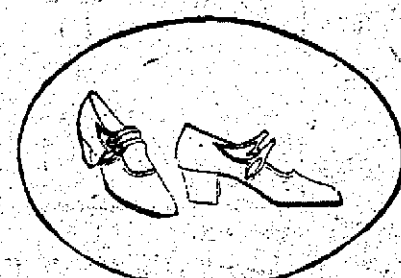

Mrs. Warren was to have spoken on the subject, "Shall We Beautify Our Home Grounds?" but owing to the lateness of the hour she merely asked how many communities would like to have Dr. Porter give them further helpful talks along these lines, and it was found possible to secure him at least once next year. The requisition was promptly sent in. All present were anxious to have Dr. Porter again.

The meeting then adjourned.

City Hospital Graduates Eight

Mr. Johnston told the graduates to give up the quest for new knowledge; an open mind is the preventive of mental decay. He warned the nurses that their work was about to begin, not end, with the reception of their diplomas. Higher technique is to be reached in the profession and each nurse should strive for its accomplishment. He requested that each develop what he termed the "pins to technique and ethics of the profession," that understanding of the human element which enables the nurse to bring comfort to a home where discord reigns due to the tenderness produced by the ill health of a member. The spirit to produce harmony was one of the greatest assets to aid humanity.

In closing he called attention to the words of a distinguished author that all to live in harmony must labor without confusion and with sincerity to work from honest motives purely and trust in God and heaven securely.

Miss Allen's Report

Miss Jessie P. Allen, principal of the school, gave the report of the institution for 1927.

Miss Allen said the school was progressing with marked continuity in growth and development. The September class of 1926 was the largest yet to be received into the school but larger classes would be required when the bed capacity of the hospital is increased. Great need for graduate nurses now exists and many calls for nurses could not be filled. The profession demands the best material available and the Kingston City Hospital aspired to a steady production of graduate nurses. To further this end the Cordenall educational building would be devoted to the use of classes for study only, which would afford the nurses every opportunity to gain the highest degree of the profession's ethics. The new Nurses' Home will furnish every convenience for those who enter the profession. The schools for matulation were described with their competent instructors and chances to gain much knowledge of nursing. The convenient size of the diplomas given was cited as advantageous to the graduates. Through the cooperation of the board of managers it was made possible to send a student nurse to the New York State Nurses' Convention at Binghamton in October, with the principal of the school. The cooperation of the board of managers was mentioned appreciatively.

Miss Allen also paid great tribute to the late Dr. Ervin E. Norwood, who always took the greatest interest in the student nurses and administered unflinchingly and aid for comfort in illness and in the way of instruction to those under his charge. The Ladies' Auxiliary were thanked for their support. The medical staff was thanked for the aid and instruction given the nurses and the very large Alumnae Association was warmly commended. Miss Agnes Foulkes, former instructor at the school of nursing, was extended a wish of happiness in her new sphere by those whom she favorably impressed by her ability and personality. Miss Allen closed her report with the greetings of Miss Alice Shepard, Gilman, secretary of the New York State Board of Nurse Examiners, to the graduating class.

The Class Meteor

Miss Frances Gerow very entertainingly read the class history after which a piano solo, "Invitation to the Dance," was very admirably rendered by Miss Ethel Schwab.

Dr. A. A. Stern, president of the training school committee, read the Florence Nightingale pledge, which the graduate nurses recited after him.

Diplomas Presented

The presentation of diplomas was made by Judge Betts, who paid a high tribute to the work of the late Dr. Norwood in the hospital and school of nursing.

The Valedictory Address

Miss Helen Carpenter very ably gave the valedictory address in which she expressed the class aim to accomplish the highest degree of efficiency, to render aid to those stricken bodily and whose spirit is torn by suffering. She said the Florence Nightingale pledge would act as a stimulus for the young nurses who would labor consistently to make favorable nursing history as did the women who entered the profession in 1872 at New York city, among whom was the famous first American trained nurse, Linda Richards.

Tribute to Dr. Norwood

Miss Katherine Murphy, president of the Nurses' Alumnae Association, reported on the death of Dr. E. E. Norwood and said that out of respect to his memory the organization had adopted a resolution whereby all social functions generally promoted by the association at this time would be dispensed with for some time.

The Rev. Joseph B. Scully, pastor of St. Mary's Church gave the Benediction and in asking the Creator to bless all who labor for humanity's cause, made a special plea for strength to the class of 1927 whose work is but beginning.

After the exercises the nurses were congratulated upon their attainments and received the best wishes of their many friends.

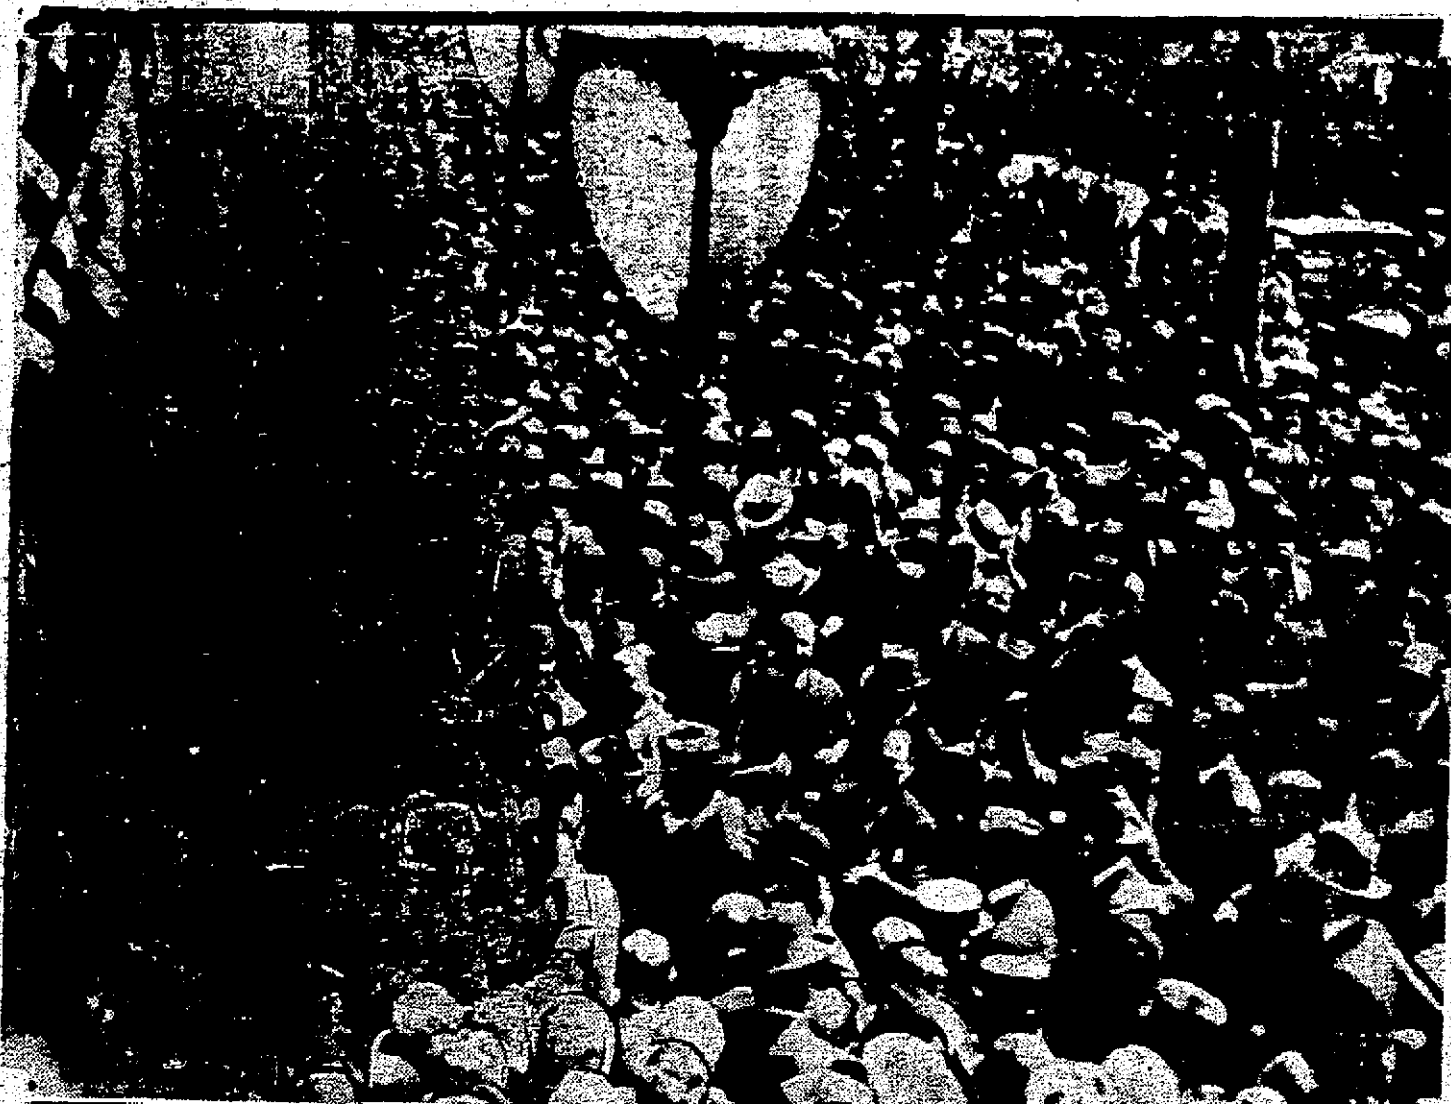

Term of Opprobrium

Fakir is a word that has come to us from the Far East where it literally means a poor man, a Mahomedan religious mendicant, who espouses poverty as being in harmony with his sense of spiritual insignificance. The life is one of inactivity. Many of these ascetics are sincere, but many were humbugs and so in the West the word "fakir" has come to mean much the same as mountebank, an impostor, especially in matters relating to religion.

King in Kingston Makes a Success

About five months ago Harold E. King called at the Chamber of Commerce office and remarked that he had just come to Kingston as a representative of Willard & Company of 25 West 43rd street, New York. It is the policy of this company to have its representatives connect themselves with the Chamber of Commerce or similar organizations in the community in which they locate. Since coming to Kingston, Mr. King has made many friends and has been unusually successful in his particular line of business.

Willard & Company are distributors for Hudson Participating Bonds. Due to the persistent efforts of Mr. King and the attractive investment features contained in this offering, people of Ulster county are now holding over $100,000 Hudson securities. Mr. King has been so successful that he has become leading salesman for Willard & Company, having already exceeded his quota for the year.

Mr. King has so enjoyed Kingston that he is leaving today for Buffalo to meet his mother who is coming from Kansas to make her home during the summer in Kingston.

Time During Equinoxes

The Naval observatory says that the equinoxes are the times when day and night have the same length. At sunrise and sunset are defined as the moments when the center of the sun is actually in the plane of the horizon. But in the tables published by the observatory sunrise and sunset are the moments when the top of the sun appears to be on the horizon, refraction, which makes the sun appear higher than it is, being taken into account. According to the observatory's tables, therefore, the two 12-hour days come a little before the vernal equinox and a little after the autumnal, the number of days in each case depending on the latitude of the station.

Chaplain's Seal

The device recently approved for the Chaplains' school, Fort Leavenworth, Kan., which is to be used on stationers', diplomas, mural decorations and so forth, has been described as follows: The shield is black, the color of the facings of the Chaplains' corps, and displays a torch, the symbol of the old law, over which is a gold cross, the symbol of the new faith. The shield and motto are displayed on a pointed oval, the early shape of the church seals, "produced by the intersection of two equal circles each of which passes through the center of the other, producing that which is true." In the space in the oval above the shield is a ribbon scroll bearing the motto, "The fear of the Lord is the beginning of wisdom." Around the edge of the oval is the legend, "The Chaplains' School of the United States Army."

The young live in the future; the old in the past; none in the present.

Matters Before The Surrogate
In the surrogate's court the will of Michael Weber of Ellenville has been admitted to probate. Letters testamentary were issued to Rose Fay, one of executors, petitioner. Value of estate, $2,500 real; $9,000 personal. Legatees and devisees, Trustees Faintinekill Cemetery, $150 for care of plot; pastor St. Andrews Church, $15; Purgatorio Society of the Church of Our Lady of Perpetual Help, $20; grandson and a grand-daughter, each $50; five daughters and one son, about $1,000 each. Judge William D. Cunningham, attorney for petitioner.

Y. M. C. A. Auxiliary.
The Women's Auxiliary of the Y. M. C. A. have been invited to hold their June meeting at the Pessenden farm at Willow. The invitation has been accepted and the meeting will be held there on Friday, June 10, instead of at the Longyear estate in Shokan, as at first planned. Mrs. I. W. Satterlee, 38 Elmwood street, is the chairman of arrangements and members planning to go are requested to notify her (telephone 2422-W) as soon as possible in order that adequate arrangements may be made for both the refreshments and transportation.

Business Certificate Filed.
A certificate has been filed with Ulster county clerk by Adrian DeGosse of Ulster, that he is conducting a business at Tilton under the name and style, "Holland House."

Financial and Commercial
New York, June 2 (P).—Frequent surges of selling for both accounts swept through today's stock market, giving it an irregular appearance. Operators for the rise, however, continued to bid up special stocks, lifting several score to "new" peak prices.
Call money held firm at 4 1/2 per cent, but there was only the normal calling of loans. No change in the four per cent rate of the New York Federal Reserve Bank was looked for when directors met after the close of the market.
Some of the early selling is believed to have been inspired by the complications arising as a result of the Mexican president's decree forbidding governmental departments to purchase supplies in the United States, and by the report of the Interstate Commerce Commission examining suggesting rejection of the New York Central's plan to acquire the "Big Four" as part of its unification plan.
New leaders were brought forward, however, in the railroad group, Norfolk and Southern standing out with a quick jump of 5 points to a new high above $57 a share.
United States Steel common was sluggish, but General Motors again climbed around the 200 level to within a fraction of its record top. American Smelting National Lead, American Water Works, Detroit Edison and Coca Cola also reached new high ground.

INJURY FOLLOWED BY THUMB AMPUTATION
Edward Davis of Millers Lane, who on April 26 had a narrow escape from being electrocuted when 13,000 volts passed through his body while he was employed setting off blasts by electricity at Catskill when wires from the battery he was using came into contact with high tension wires, has returned home from the Kingston City Hospital. Mr. Davis was terribly burned and it was necessary to amputate the entire thumb of his right hand, which was done by Dr. Frank A. Johnston. Because of the burns on his left hand, skin grafting was necessary and Mr. Davis is improving nicely. He speaks highly of the careful attention given him by the attending doctor and the hospital nurses.

LOUGHRAN CO. PUTS NEW REPAIR SYSTEM IN EFFECT
The B. Loughran Company, plumbers, has recently put into effect an innovation which is designed to save its customers time and money. The repair service has been reorganized with a special truck which has been fitted out to carry to the door of the customer all tools, appliances, parts, pipe and fittings which are liable to be needed on any ordinary service job. This will mean quick service and will eliminate the former trip back to the shop for parts and tools. On some jobs where special materials are needed it will be necessary to get parts from the shop but the new service is designed to eliminate the majority of delays.

Lindbergh Film At Auditorium
The Auditorium Theatre today, Friday and Saturday, will show a special film of Captain Charles Lindbergh, the first man to fly across the Atlantic ocean from New York to Paris. This feature film will prove of interest to every resident of Kingston and vicinity, and undoubtedly there will be a record-breaking attendance at every performance during the three days the film is shown at the Auditorium theatre. It was through the efforts of Manager Harry Lazarus that the Auditorium theatre was able to book this feature for the last three days of this week.

Governor Clinton Profits Doubled
The holiday rush of tourists, preceding and following Memorial Day was the heaviest Kingston has ever known. All of the hotels were filled and hundreds were turned away or sent to private houses. At the Governor Clinton the new annex was temporarily placed in commission and was filled with lodgers, sheltering 32 on Saturday night and 35 on Sunday night, adding $30 each night to the revenue of the hotel and increasing the number of pleased guests. The dining room and coffee shop did a capacity business. The Orange Pealers College Orchestra of Syracuse played during the dinner hours and added greatly to the pleasure of the day. They are seven in number but a host in musical entertainment, vocal and instrumental.
In his report made at the dinner of stockholders recently, President Herbert Carl estimated profits for the first 20 days in May at $3,000. That this was a very conservative estimate is shown by the fact that profits for the full month were $6,000. This added to the March and April profits not only wipes out the January and February losses but brings business up to June 1 with net earnings for the first five months in the calendar year amounting to about $3,000.

Society Notes

POETIC FANCY IN LEGEND OF LENIN
How Soviet Leader Earned Love of Allah.
Among the many legends concerning the life and deeds of Nikolai Lenin already incorporated in the popular mythology of the Moslem inhabitants of the soviet union is one passing from month to month in Turkish in the form of a song and summarized as follows by Leland Stoviet, a Russian writer who specializes in collecting Lenin stories, according to the New York Times:
The World war was raging and Communists were being slain because the kings of the earth wanted to fill their treasuries and were forcing their subjects to go to the front and kill each other. The stench of the fallen men and the noise of the conflict rose to high heaven and annoyed Allah himself, who concluded it was time to call together his most faithful followers and select one, wise and strong enough to end all this misery.
In order to find the best man for the job, Allah set up a double test. His elected agent must be able to turn over a huge rock weighing 60 pounds (about a ton) and to give the correct answer to the following riddle: "Who is the strongest on earth: who is the happiest, and who is the weakest and most unhappy?"
There were many candidates for the glorious mandate, but none was able to turn over the rock, although they tried so hard that the stone soon bore traces of their fingers. Neither could anyone solve the riddle, despite the variety of answers, most of which made Allah the strongest and happiest and Satan the weakest and most unhappy. Finally Allah noticed a man of slight figure, but with a very high forehead looking intently at the big rock. "Maybe this little fellow can do it, though," thought the Most High.
When the last candidate threw off his coat and stood revealed in all his physical weakness, Allah's heart sank. But what was his surprise to see the man walk away from the rock and return in a few minutes with several beams of wood. One of these he placed under the big stone. Then another was placed under the free end of the first, and by means of this improvised lever the rock was easily turned over, revealing the poisonous serpent Ok-Dea; whose tail, weighing 100 pounds, had helped hold the stone down.
Then the little champion answered Allah's riddle as follows: "The strongest is the most intelligent, who wins every one's love; the happiest is the most honorable, who gives happiness to many; the most unhappy and the weakest is the man beloved by no body."
Allah saw how wonderful was the talent of this man. So he lifted him up into heaven, where he spent 50 days and 50 nights learning the wisdom of the Most High. Thus equipped the successful candidate was named Lenin and sent back to earth. Lenin strode over the earth and stopped the stream of blood. He brought happiness to humanity. Then he returned to rest in Allah's halls. He left the world pacified and happy. His name shall endure while the word "happiness" lives.
So runs the legend.

He Liked Boxing
Paul was quite fond of boxing. Whenever he was with his little pal Frank he never lost an opportunity to deal him a blow. One day Frank, growing weary of being the daily victim of these blows, bolstered up his strength and dealt Paul such a box that he sent him home crying.
Rejoicing over his victory, Frank hurried in and told his grandfather. His grandfather reproached him, saying: "Frank, do you think that is anything to be proud of? Don't you know that the good Lord sent all you do? In the day the sun is God's eye and at night the moon shines on all deeds."
"Oh, that's all right," replied Frank. "I hit Paul on the shady side of the house."—Indianapolis News.

Cancer Research
Studying the light given off by ash of tumors burned in an arc light is the latest method of attacking the cancer problem, one which has been applied at the Hahnemann Medical College in Philadelphia by a trio of biologists and a physicist, Donald O. A. Batts, Thomas E. Huff and Frederick Palmer, Jr. By means of a spectroscopic, which analyzes the light and reveals the elements that cause it, they have found that the yellow lines due to sodium, which appear only momentarily when the ash of normal animal tissue is placed in the arc, persist until it has all been consumed when the ash from tumors is analyzed. This shows the presence of the element sodium in cancerous tissue.

NEW INVENTIONS
A motor propelled buoy that can be used to carry two swimmers through water is a Californian's invention.
Turning a new gas range valve even slightly lights automatically the burner that it serves, preventing danger from leaking gas.
The use of heat is not needed with a new sealing wax that is held in metal tubes and soon hardens on exposure to the air.
A motor-driven pump that can be placed in any tub to convert it into a washing machine by agitating the water it contains has been invented.
An English inventor's windmill for generating electricity has adjustable sails and a governor that maintains a constant voltage when the wind varies in pressure.

Rotarians Hear Pierce Play Solos
Rotary luncheon at the Governor Clinton this week was enlivened by violin solos played by James Pierce, G. A. R. veteran and old time musician whose playing would delight Henry Ford as much as it delighted the Rotarians. "Sweet Adeline" was sung in honor of John H. Greary, who is en route to Ostend, where he will represent the Kingston Rotary Club in the annual convention of Rotary International. There were visitors from Syracuse, High Falls, Albany and Astor Park. An invitation to join the joint meeting of Catskill Hudson and Kingston Rotarians some evening in June at the Catskill Mountain House was accepted most joyously. It will be a ladies' night.

Ended Life in Leap from Boat
A Newburgh man, aged about 24, whose identity has not been established committed suicide about 2 o'clock Wednesday afternoon when he jumped from the top deck of the Alexander Hamilton steamer of the Hudson River Day Line into the Hudson river about two miles north of Poughkeepsie near the Columbia boat house.
According to report of the suicide given out by Captain McGowan and Detective Costello of the police who started an investigation from Albany to New York did not come to a stop immediately, but came to Poughkeepsie and then returned to the point where the man disappeared from view.
A passenger on the boat, the man was accompanied by his mother, who explained when the steamer arrived in Poughkeepsie that her son was suffering from epileptic fits. It was stated that he jumped into the river after suffering from the throes of the fit.

Boy Swallowed Five Cent Piece
Vincent, the four-year-old son of Charles Brooks of No. 22 South Clinton avenue, Wednesday evening swallowed a five cent piece and was taken to the Kingston City Hospital where he was examined by Dr. Daniel C. Kelly and Dr. A. C. Gates. An X-ray was taken and showed that the coin was lodged in the esophagus, the canal that extends from the pharynx to the stomach.
The boy spent a restless night at the hospital and this morning another X-ray was taken and showed that the position of the coin remained unchanged. Dr. George F. Chandler by using a rubber tube was able to dislodge the coin and it dropped into the stomach, as an X-ray showed.
No ill effects are expected by the boy having the coin in the stomach and it was stated that the boy would be taken to his home today.

County Court Convenes Monday

Three are ten civil actions on the calendar for Ulster county court which will convene at the court house in Kingston on Monday, June 6, at 2 p. m. Judge Joseph M. Fowler presiding. There will be no grand jury, but a number of criminal cases will be brought to the attention of the court by District Attorney Frederick G. Traver.

Honor Not His Due

Australia's one great waterway, which carries to the sea the drainage of nearly 500,000 square miles of territory, bears the name of an obscure English politician who had virtually nothing to do with the colonization of the country. Alexander Hume in 1824 discovered the Upper Murray river and named it Hume river; but when Sturt six years later explored its lower reaches, he named it after Sir George Murray, a member of Wellington's cabinet who had had thrust on him for a few months the position of British secretary of war and the colonies, and of whom it was written that he "displayed no qualifications in administering a civil office." Not many years ago an atlas used in Australian schools listed the stream as "Hume or Murray river," but during recent years Murray has come into general usage.—Sydney Bulletin.

Heroism Not Shared

During a campaign in Egypt a certain colonel drove up to an outpost in the desert, relates Maj. Gen. Sir C. E. Callwell in "Stray Recollections," and after complimenting the officer in command, declared:

"But understand this! You are in a position of grave responsibility here. I have every confidence in you and your men. But remember this, all of you. You have got to stop here and die, if necessary."

Saying which he whisked his horse around and was off in a cloud of sand. The little party was still recovering from the shock of the visit, when the effect of the trade was destroyed by a gunner, who inquired:

"But ain't the old blighter going to stop and die with us?"

To the average observer there would seem to be more need for a legs conference than for an arms parley.

Considering its technic, the strange thing is no one ever thought to tie the corn borer up with Moscow.

HOW

FRITION OVER WAR DEBT CAUSED ALARM OF WAR.
How the United States nearly went to war with France over the collection of a debt to us during Andrew Jackson's administration is recounted by Clifford Raymond in an article in Liberty. "In 1831," the writer explains, "the United States got an agreement with France for compensation for the spoliation of American shipping under the Napoleonic decrees. The claims had been pressed for fifteen years without satisfaction.

"Louis Philippe constitutional king of France, who admired Jackson, suggested confidentially to Livingston, the American ambassador, after continued failure of appropriations in the French chamber of deputies," the writer continues, "that if Jackson would send a strong note to congress on the question, matters might be advanced in Paris.

"In his message of 1834, Jackson recommended that the United States take by force what it had failed to get by negotiations. He asked for a law authorizing reprisals upon French property. He advocated seizures.

"Relations between the two countries were broken, and for several weeks the United States waited the possible event of war. Finally Great Britain offered mediation. America got its money. Louis Philippe sent an artist over to paint a picture of Jackson for the Tuilleries, and the duke of Wellington said that Old Hickory was a man of spirit."

How to Keep Volumes in Proper Condition

To preserve books, keep them in a light, airy place, in a fairly even temperature, free from dampness but not too dry. For this reason the glass bookcase is not necessarily the best place, unless it is exposed to light and there is some way of ventilating it.

Excessive dryness takes the natural oil out of leather and is one of the principal causes of its disintegration. It may be prevented to a certain extent by keeping humidifiers in steam-heated libraries, but principally by giving leather-bound books, once or twice a year, a treatment with oil. This consists in rubbing their covers with a combination of five parts of lanolin (oil of sheep's wool) and six parts of neat's-foot oil. In doing this, great care should be taken not to get the oil on the leaves, as it will leave an ineradicable spot on paper. Leather bindings which have begun to powder and flake off cannot be restored by this treatment, but the disintegrating process can be arrested.

How Trees Grow

Trees do not grow from the ground up, but the growth is from the ends of the twigs and branches. We have lived in the same place for 30 years and have set out trees and have observed the growth. If you will observe the growth of trees you will see the more tender wood of the new growth at the ends of the twigs every year, or if you drive a nail in the trunk of a growing tree you will find it will stay at the same level. Every year a growing tree will add a new layer of wood just under the bark, which adds to the girth of the tree.—Exchange.

How Flying Machine Works

An Australian has invented a curious apparatus that apparently enables him to fly like a bird. The rig is strapped to his back and includes two upright propellers which, on revolving rapidly, raise the rider from the ground. On each side are wings that open and close like an umbrella. By means of the propellers, the height of ascent is regulated and the landing negotiated. The mechanism is driven by a gasoline motor and is said to have carried the inventor a third of a mile and to a height of 150 feet.

How Thermometer Is Made

In making a thermometer the air is partly driven from the bulb by heating it, the open end of the tube is put into mercury and some of the mercury driven into the bulb by the atmospheric pressure when the bulb cools. By repeating the process the bulb and tube are entirely filled. The mercury is then heated to a high temperature and the tube is sealed at the top and left upright. Thus, when the mercury cools, a vacuum is left.

How Oases Are Formed

An oasis in a desert is generally caused by springs or streams rising from a subterranean spring. In the Sahara there are mountains sufficient high to induce rainfall in the neighboring lowlands, which thus receive sufficient water to support some vegetation. A combination of soil that holds water, but prevents evaporation, is sometimes found in deserts and greatly favors the formation of oases.

How Cotton Is Dyed

The dye may be applied to the raw cotton, to the yarn or to the fabric. Under equal conditions dyeing the raw cotton allows better penetration and gives a more lasting effect, although when properly carried out either yarn or fabric dyeing gives the satisfactory result.

Freedom in Marriage Makes for Happiness?

In the face of alarming increases in the divorce statistics the American people are rapidly solving the problem of how to be happy though married, in the opinion of Booth Tarkington, the Hoosier author and philosopher. This developing solution of the marriage problem, Mr. Tarkington thinks, may prove to be America's greatest contribution to modern life.

"We can obtain statistics upon divorce, and probably could compile figures estimating the number of suicides due to marriage," says Mr. Tarkington in the American Magazine, "but it is more difficult to set forth the true proportion of really happy marriages.

"We only know that, no matter how crazy the contract, most American husbands and wives do get along with each other, not always happily, but with more or less harmony, more or less conflict and a great deal of the deepest devotion.

"Freedom is the great essential element in a happy marriage. Without it marriage is a bondage.

"A woman neighbor, shaking her head ominously, said of my friend Sam's wife: 'She lets her husband go out every night!'

"But this was a mistake; Sam's wife and Sam do not 'let' each other do anything—not any more than one lets a stranger choose which road he will follow. They consult each other; they do not ask or grant permissions; they enjoy liberty, equality and fraternity—universal and instinctive ideals actually realized in their happy marriage.

"Marriage is a bond that must not be a bondage. Without freedom marriage cannot be happy."

"Lightless" Tail Light

For the protection of vehicles on the public highways against rear-end collisions with automobiles, a unique tail light has been perfected. This light, it seems, does not require oil flame or electricity and is always ready for service. Numerous accidents occur on account of tail lights being extinguished from various causes, but with the "lightless light" attached to the rear of wagon, carriage or other vehicle, this ingenious little mechanism gives forth a bright red light when the rays from an oncoming headlight strike its focal surface and the driver is warned of the presence of the vehicle ahead.

Intelligent Rattler

That a snake can show gratitude is the moral of this tale from Corsicana, Texas. Jim Curtis found a rattlesnake caught beneath a boulder, and instead of killing it, released it. The snake followed Jim home and took up residence in Jim's bachelor quarters. Affection developed between the two and Jim prepared a place at the foot of his bed for the snake to sleep. One night he missed the rattler and, lighting a lamp, found a burglar in an adjoining room, caught in the coils of the snake, which had put the end of its tail out the window and was rattling for the police.—Boston Globe.

Yeoman Farmers

Yeoman is a small farmer or countryman, but it is used generally to indicate a landowner working his own farm. A military corps known as Yeomen of the Guards was formed in England by Henry VII. The Yeomanry was a body of volunteers formed during the wars with Napoleon, and organized according to counties. Yeomanry regiments were also raised during the South African war.

Wedding Presents
More Precious and Endearing with each passing year.

Let's skip a handful of years, and ask the young matron to list her wedding gifts. First to mind comes the tokens thoughtfully selected at the jewelry store. So frequently used. So prudently displayed. No one could possibly overlook them. Other and perhaps more costly gifts are forgotten or dimly remembered, but jeweled possessions, enriched with constant association become more precious with each passing year.
